German Rearming Within NATO To Be Pressed By Britain

Bonn Government Asks Independence From West's Big 3

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The British Cabinet decided at an emergency session tonight to push for limited rearmament of West Germany within the North Atlantic Alliance, official sources said.

At the same time the West German government demanded independence from the Big Three occupying powers and made an indirect bid on its own for NATO membership. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government, ignoring France, announced a foreign policy based on independence, equality and military cooperation with other countries supporting West European unity.

Climaxes Death Of EDC

The action in London and Bonn climaxed bitter Western reaction to Monday's vote in France killing the European Defense Community plan to add German military support to a projected unified European army. This plan had been proposed originally by France to avert the setting up of a national German army.

NATO is an alliance stretching from the United States to Turkey with integrated but not unified armed forces. Its 14 members may be increased by unanimous agreement. NATO officials were depending heavily on the establishment of EDC because it appeared to be the only way to get the German units considered vital for Western defense. The death blow which France dealt EDC now turns Western attention back to NATO.

Deadline Reported Set

Diplomatic officials in London said today the United States and Britain had set a secret deadline for starting West German rearmament. They said the Churchill Cabinet has decided to call an eight - power foreign ministers' meeting in London this month to discuss German rearmament. Represented would be the United States, Britain, and the six signers of the EDC treaty—France West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The informants gave this account of the plan to bring in the West German military units:

Even before the military program for Germany is worked out, the United States and Britain intend to proceed with their earlier plan to restore civil independence to West Germany, giving the Bonn regime full control over its own affairs except the right to rearm.

President Cuts Red Tape To Aid Victims Of Storm

BOSTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A presidential order to "cut through red tape" to aid hurricane victims encouraged New England authorities today as they battled with the Herculean task of restoring order after Tuesday's furious Atlantic coastal storm.

Inspection of damaged areas—particularly in eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island—unfolded a panorama of devastation: crumbled summer homes, sea coasts and harbors strewn with splintered yachts, cities and towns completely without electric power and refrigeration—the latter posing the threat of food crises.

No central agency could estimate accurately the full damage but newspapers placed the losses as between 300 and 500 million dollars.

Death List Reaches 53

The unofficial death list stood at 53, most of them from New England, and 16 unofficially reported missing. About 1,000 suffered injuries of some sort and 60,000 persons were evacuated, it was reported.

President Eisenhower's directive was issued to the Federal Civil Defense Administration about the time Gov. Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island wired the chief executive and other federal officials to declare the state a major disaster area.

The big storm—christened Carol—left an estimated 80,000 persons out of work in Rhode Island and newspaper accounts indicated the loss in that state alone will exceed the 100-million-dollar loss suffered in the 1938 hurricane.

The Federal Small Business Administration later declared all New England states except Vermont disaster areas, where loans for emergency rebuilding can be made.

New Hurricane Forming

Another hurricane — Dolly — the fourth of the season—is shaping up off Florida but it still was too far away to know whether it will reach New England.

Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts, before flying over stricken Cape Cod towns, declared a state of emergency and said the first practical problem was the preservation of food supplies in sections lacking electric power.

Approximately a third of the 10 million persons in New England had no electricity and many had no telephones. Homes with freezers and commercial plants depending on electricity to keep food safe faced the prospect of spoilage unless power is restored within 24 hours.

New Hurricane Whirling North

MIAMI, Fla., Sept 1 (AP)—A new hurricane roared northward in the open Atlantic today with no indication it would strike anywhere along the coast.

At 5 p. m. (EST) hurricane Dolly was 460 miles east of Wilmington, N.C. The Weather Bureau said it would curve gradually toward the northeast during the next 12 to 18 hours.

The season's fourth hurricane was whirling along at 28 miles an hour with winds of 100 to 115 miles per hour near the center.

Hurricane winds—75 miles per hour—extend outward about 50 miles from the center and gales extend outward 150 miles to the east and 100 miles to the west of center.

President Signs Coal Fire-Fighting Bill

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP) — President Eisenhower has signed a bill authorizing $500,000 yearly of government aid in fighting fires in coal formations.

The bill, by Rep. Fenton (R-Pa), provides permanent authorization for an activity the U. S. Bureau of Mines has been engaged in for some time but on a year-to-year basis.

The Bureau of Mines has recorded fires in inactive coal deposits in nine states, including Ohio, 8; Pennsylvania, 75; West Virginia, 13; and Maryland, 1.

Navy Mapmaker Falsely Accused In Security Case

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The strange case of Abraham Chasanow—he said it was like "a bad dream"—ended happily for the government mapmaker when the Navy cleared him of being a security risk.

Chasanow's accusers were never identified publicly. Asst. Secretary James H. Smith, in ordering him restored to his job, said those who put the finger on him had committed a grave injustice and a disservice to the country.

Smith said the Navy would try to keep anything like it from happening again.

While Chasanow was accused of being a radical, and an associate of Communists and fellow travelers, a Navy loyalty board found instead that he was a patriotic and civic minded man, actively religious and esteemed in his community.

Chasanow, 44, his wife and their four children live in Greenbelt, Md., a suburban cooperative community, and he was earning $8,360 a year in his Navy job when he was suspended July 29, 1953.

A native of Philadelphia, he had been working for the Navy 23 years.

There was testimony that he had consorted with Communists, that he had contributed to the Spanish Loyalists Aid Committee and that reliable informants had named him as a radical.

All this Chasanow denied. He said that as a part time lawyer he had met some of the people whom he was said to have associated with, but contended it simply was not true that he was radical.

Last Oct. 9 a Navy hearing board agreed with Chasanow, saying that instead of being radical, he was a moderate and conservative influence in the Greenbelt community.

Nevertheless, he was suspended last July without a further hearing by Asst. Secretary Smith, on the advice of the security appeals board. With legal help and publicity, Chasanow kept pressing his denials and obtained a new hearing.

The second hearing board, whose decision was upheld today, looked further into the case. It reported that his accusers "either failed to corroborate the original testimony or were unable to produce specifics of earlier allegations."

Sen. Joe McCarthy Appears In New Role As Silent Man

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — A new, silent Sen. McCarthy appeared today.

The Wisconsin Republican, who usually has plenty to say and says it vigorously, went through an entire session of a congressional hearing—and never said a word.

Oddly, this, the second day of the hearing into whether the Senate should censure McCarthy, had looked like a sure bet for verbal fireworks.

Every sign pointed to it.

Yesterday's hearing had ended on a wild note, with McCarthy trying to talk and Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) vigorously banging away with the gavel.

Today when reporters reached the caucus room where the hearings are held the impression of impending excitement grew.

There was a five - page news release from McCarthy, and it carried the title:

"Memorandum regarding alleged statements of Sen. Johnson on March 12, 1954."

This memorandum again referred to a Denver Post story in which Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) now a member of the investigating committee, was quoted as saying:

"In my opinion, there is not a man among the Democratic leaders of Congress who does not loathe Joe McCarthy."

It looked like a perfect spot for an animated senatorial discussion of who loathed whom. And, furthermore, McCarthy had moved his seat from the witness table to the committee table itself, so that he would be sitting only a few feet from Johnson.

And so?

And so nothing exciting at all happened. Not only did McCarthy never say a word publicly during the morning session; he didn't even bother to hang around much of the time. He took a long recess, came back for a relatively brief time, and was gone again.

Nixon Sees Record GOP Vote

Failure Of Slump To Develop Lost Demos Big Issue

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1 (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon predicted today a record - smashing Republican vote in November will elect a GOP Congress. And he said Democrats lost their only real campaign appeal when a depression failed to develop during the Eisenhower administration.

"The Democrats have no great and compelling issue," Nixon told a news conference. "The one big issue on which they relied has been pulled out from under them—and that was an economic depression or recession."

He foresaw a GOP vote in November equal to President Eisenhower's smashing 1952 vote total—with a "fall off" in the Democratic vote. He added he expects Republicans to get "as big a chunk" of the independent and farmer vote as they did in the presidential election.

Run "Scared," Candidates Told

The youthful vice president came here to urge that GOP Senate and House candidates run under the Eisenhower banner, that they run "scared," and that they identify themselves with the need for a Republican Congress to carry out a "peace, progress and prosperity" program.

The Nixon theme in general was that Republican candidates have the best chance to win if they identify themselves with President Eisenhower and the Eisenhower program.

"Those candidates who support the Eisenhower program," he said, "will appear in a better light than those who are opposed to it."

Ike Backs All GOP Aspirants

Nixon emphasized Eisenhower will make "the type of campaign" which will do the most good for the greatest number of Republican candidates—and that the President will support all the GOP candidates.

Nixon put it this way: "I don't know of any Republican candidates the President is going to oppose."

He said Eisenhower won't "make the mistake which Franklin D. Roosevelt made" in trying to purge members of his own party who disagreed with him on some major issues during the New Deal administration.

And, he added, Eisenhower won't "make the errors of Harry Truman" who he said made some of his campaigns "too vitriolic and too negative—driving away more voters than he won."

Schuman Says EDC Isn't Dead

PARIS, Sept. 1 (AP)—Robert Schuman, father of the EDC, declared today the European army plan is not dead.

He said the plan has a chance of being revived. If Britain agrees to participate in greater measure than before, the present treaty can be greatly simplified and many of the features disliked by some opponents can be removed or modified.

How long will it take?

"Perhaps too long."

Will the Germans wait?

"The Germans, I feel certain, want above all to bring about unification of Europe. That interests them more than participation in military defense."

This was the summary made by the former French foreign minister in an interview in the committee room of the almost deserted Chamber of Deputies.

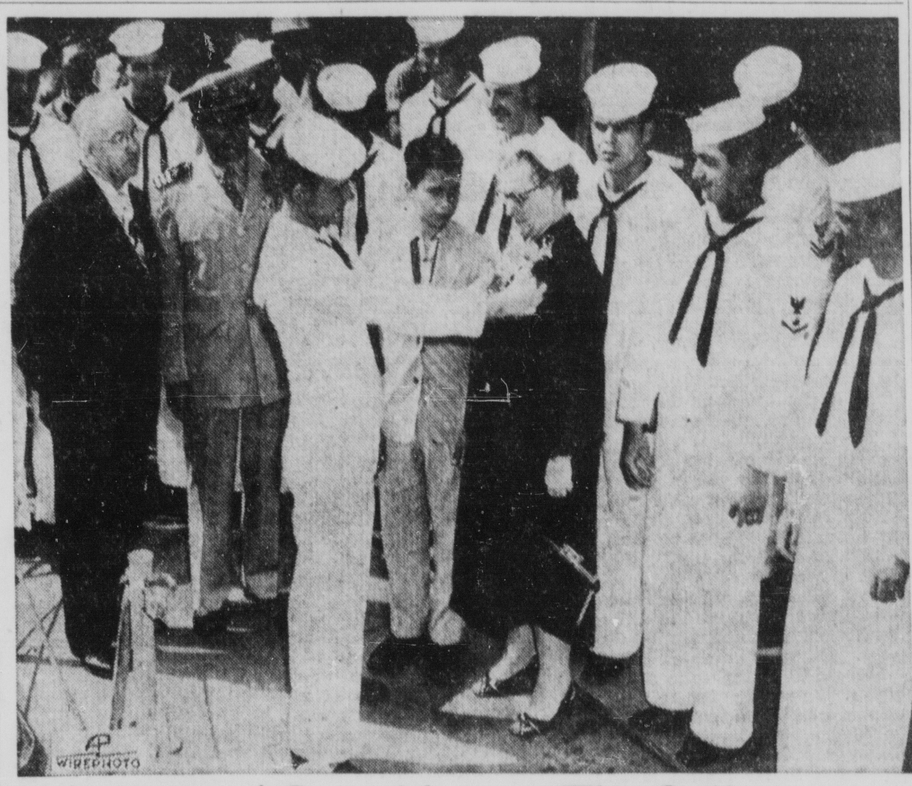
Only a few messengers and doormen stood at their posts in the Chamber, emptied of deputies who voted to go on two months vacation after rejecting the European Defense Community under circumstances dividing and embittering the Assembly more than at any time since the war.

Old North Church Signals For Help

BOSTON, Sept 1 (AP) — The old North Church, which lost its famous steeple in yesterday's hurricane, is sending out another signal for action tonight.

The Rev. C. R. Peck, the vicar, said he is mailing letters to the governors of the 48 states asking help in restoring the historic steeple in which hung the signal lanterns for Paul Revere.

Vicar Peck said he is asking the governors to appeal to church members and children in their states for contributions. He would like the fund to be similar to the penny campaign that restored the frigate Constitution in 1920.



Sullivans' Crew Honors The Sullivans

Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, Waterloo, Iowa, whose five sons were killed aboard the cruiser Juneau at Guadalcanal in World War II, receives a corsage from Cecil Marks, 22, Tampa, Fla., as the crew of the destroyer U. S. S. The Sullivans played host to Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and their grandson, Leo, 13, center, at Philadelphia yesterday. Watching the ceremony are the father of the five heroes, at left, and the destroyer's commander, Cmdr. Charles Holzer, Santa Monica, Calif.

Eisenhower Signs Social Security Bill

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law, in a Rocky Mountain pine grove, legislation extending social security coverage and liberalizing benefits. He called the measure "one of the cornerstones to build a better and stronger America."

Besides extending coverage to 10 million additional Americans and providing for greater benefits, the new law also increases payments into the social security fund on the part of both employes and employers.

Ike "Happy To Sign" Bill

The President wore a rust-colored suede jacket, a tan sport shirt buttoned at the neck without a tie, and tan tweed slacks. His face was deeply tanned from golf and trout fishing.

In a prepared statement Eisenhower declared:

"I am very happy to sign the social security amendments of 1954. By enabling some 10,000,000 more Americans to participate in the old age and survivors insurance program, it gives them an opportunity to establish a solid foundation of economic security for themselves and their families."

He added that the bill, plus others in related fields which already had been signed into law, "will bolster the health and economic security of the American people.

"They represent one of the cornerstones of our program to build a better and stronger America."

President, Hoover Fish

While he waited for the bill to arrive by motor courier from Denver, Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover, his guest in the Rocky Mountains, got in some trout fishing in swift-running St. Louis Creek.

There was no immediate word on whether their luck was good or bad.

The president and Hoover were joined in the stream by the chief executive's youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University.

All members of the vacation party were up early and slipped hurriedly into warm clothes. At 4 a.m. the temperature was a frosty 30 degrees—two below freezing—but it was considerably warmer by breakfast time. The temperature had climbed into the 70s by midmorning. Eisenhower served again as chef, turning out flapjacks and sausage and a steaming pot of coffee.

Rain Collapses Houses

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 1 (AP)—Three persons were killed in collapsing houses today as unceasing rain lashed down on Bombay, bringing the season's rainfall—since Mid-May—to 115 inches. This topped by one inch the state's 118-year-old rainfall record.

Bert Acosta, Flier Who Once Held Air Speed Mark, Dies

DENVER, Sept. 1 (AP) — Bert Acosta, veteran flier and race car driver, died today in the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society Sanatorium here after a two-year illness. He was 59.

Acosta started flying a self-built plane in 1910 and 11 years later set a new flying speed record of 176.9 miles an hour. He flew with Adm. Richard E. Byrd and Bert Balchen across the Atlantic shortly after Charles Lindbergh's epic 1927 flight.

He later became a test pilot and aviation consultant, but collapsed in 1952 on a New York sidewalk with what was diagnosed as an advanced case of tuberculosis.

Reds Return Bodies Of 193 U. S. War Dead

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Sept. 2 (AP)—The vanguard of another group of Allied warriors was on the way home today from Communist soil. They are the fallen heroes who died and were buried in ground now under the Red Korean flag.

Eight dark green, Russian-built trucks delivered the bodies of 193 Americans and seven soldiers of unknown nationality yesterday to the Allies.

In turn, the U. N. Command handed over 500 Korean and 100 Chinese war dead, disinterred from the battlefield cemeteries of South Korea.

Legion Renews Fight With AMA Over Vets' Care

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The American Legion called today for expended government medical care for veterans and challenged the stand of the American Medical Assn. on that issue.

Resuming business sessions of the 36th national convention after yesterday's 11½-hour parade, the legionnaires fixed their policy through a number of resolutions, but delayed until tomorrow action on a series of others having to do with efforts to combat communism.

40 And 8 Still Segregated

The convention refused to interfere with the present segregated policy of a subsidiary, the 40 and 8 Society, rejecting a compromise resolution which would have given state Legion groups authority to decide the issue in their respective areas.

The Legion itself is unsegregated. Its fun-loving offshoot, the 40 and 8, is limited to white males. A convention committee earlier had rejected an effort to withdraw Legion support of the 40 and 8 unless it changed that policy.

Renewing its long-fought battle with the AMA over veterans' medical benefits, the Legion criticized the doctors' group for adopting last June resolutions which the legion said "indicted veterans as a class."

More VA Hospital Beds

The AMA has sought to limit government care of veterans with nonservice connected disabilities.

Other Legion resolutions called for more Veterans Administration hospital beds for mentally disabled veterans, air conditioning of hospitals for chronic ailments, facilities for treatment of veterans outside the United States, extension of World War I benefits to veterans of World War II and the Korean War, and an increase in disability and death benefits.

Japan Keeps Death Watch Over H-Bomb Test Victim

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 2 (AP)—Japanese, drawn closely together in their strongest national feeling since World War II, kept an agonized death watch today over the bedside of a failing, unconscious fisherman.

The sick man was Aikichi Kuboyama, radio operator who was dusted with radioactive ash along with 22 other crewmen of the Lucky Dragon last March 1 when the United States set off a hydrogen explosion at Bikini atoll.

Kuboyama, racked with radiation sickness and jaundice, clung feebly to life in a deep coma.

His wife has given up hope. His American and Japanese doctors have issued grave bulletins. And across Japan's four main islands the blackest headlines proclaimed: "Bikini Victim Near Death."

If Kuboyama dies, it is certain that U.S.-Japanese relations will sink to the lowest point since the Pacific war ended just nine years ago.

At Kuboyama's bedside there are the specters of the tens of thousands of men, women and children who died in the atomic fires at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. The official toll of these Pacific war bombings is listed as 152,034, but an American doctor and Japanese scientists have estimated that more than 300,000 persons died.

All the rancor, regret, bitterness and grief over the wartime atomic bombings has welled up into an almost hysterical national concern for the Bikini victims.

If Kuboyama dies, Japan will have an atomic martyr whose death cannot be blamed on the misfortunes of war.

This emotional storm has nullified almost all the good will gestures the United States had made in the Bikini case. To the Japanese, the fishermen are a symbol of all their atomic sufferings.

Group Takes All Evidence On 3 Charges

Indications Point To Early Windup Of Censure Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Senate investigators completed taking evidence on three of the five censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today, moving with a speed and orderliness previously unheard of in a proceeding of this kind.

With McCarthy away from the hearing room most of the time and sitting silent when he did attend, the six-member select committee moved to consider evidence on the remaining two charges tomorrow. All indications pointed to a speedy windup of the 48-hour-old inquiry.

The committee called two witnesses, both newspapermen, and otherwise confined itself to reading documents of public record, in taking evidence on charges that:

1. McCarthy committed contempt of the Senate in failing to testify before a 1952 subcommittee which investigated his financial and other affairs. McCarthy's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, argued that this count should be thrown out on the ground that the '52 committee was improperly set up and went beyond its authority. Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) refused, however, to strike out the contempt charge at this time.

AP Reporters Testify

2. McCarthy has ridiculed fellow senators in "vulgar, base language." The committee subpoenaed two Associated Press reporters who testified the senator did make remarks attributed to him about Sens. Flanders (R-VT) and Hendrickson (R-NJ). McCarthy's lawyer indicated he would argue that the lawmakers attacked by McCarthy had said just as sharp things about the Wisconsin senator.

3. McCarthy "impugned the loyalty, patriotism and character" of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

Two pieces of evidence were submitted on this point. One was the transcript of a hearing at which McCarthy told the general he was unfit to command. The other was Zwicker's service record, showing decorations for combat heroism in World War II.

This left for the committee only two other groups of charges which it has winnowed from some 40 allegations submitted by Flanders, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) in seeking a Senate vote of censure against McCarthy.

Security Issue Remains

One remaining charge is based on McCarthy's call, during the hearings on his row with Army officials, for government employes to give him evidence of subversion or other wrongdoing even if they disregard security regulations in doing so.

Maybank Dies Of Heart Attack

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 1 (AP)—Burnet R. Maybank, South Carolina's 55-year-old senior senator, died unexpectedly early today after a heart attack.

In rising from city alderman and mayor of Charleston to the governorship and to the Senate, the black - haired scion of an old Charleston family never knew election defeat.

He died in sleep at his summer home at Flat Rock, N.C. Relatives said he was "feeling fine yesterday."

His death reduced Senate Democrats to 46. There are 48 Republicans and one Independent.

At Columbia, Gov. Byrnes said he would not consider appointing a successor until after the funeral here Friday at 11 a.m. at St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church.

Maybank succeeded Byrnes in the Senate in 1941 when the latter moved to the U.S. Supreme Court. He had won the Democratic nomination this year unopposed and had been assured of re-election in this Democratic state for his third full term.

N.C. Will File Brief In Segregation Case

RALEIGH, N.C., Sept. 1 (AP)—North Carolina will take part in the U.S. Supreme Court hearing next month on school segregation.

Gov. William B. Umstead and Atty. Gen. Harry McMullan announced today that North Carolina will file a brief in the case as a friend of the court.

Weather Forecast

Failure Of Slump To Develop Lost Demos Big Issue

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1 (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon predicted today a record - smashing Republican vote in November will elect a GOP Congress. And he said Democrats lost their only real campaign appeal when a depression failed to develop during the Eisenhower administration.

"The Democrats have no great and compelling issue," Nixon told a news conference. "The one big issue on which they relied has been pulled out from under them—and that was an economic depression or recession."

He foresaw a GOP vote in November equal to President Eisenhower's smashing 1952 vote total—with a "fall off" in the Democratic vote. He added he expects Republicans to get "as big a chunk" of the independent and farmer vote as they did in the presidential election.

Run "Scared," Candidates Told

The youthful vice president came here to urge that GOP Senate and House candidates run under the Eisenhower banner, that they run "scared," and that they identify themselves with the need for a Republican Congress to carry out a "peace, progress and prosperity" program.

The Nixon theme in general was that Republican candidates have the best chance to win if they identify themselves with President Eisenhower and the Eisenhower program.

"Those candidates who support the Eisenhower program," he said, "will appear in a better light than those who are opposed to it."

Ike Backs All GOP Aspirants

Nixon emphasized Eisenhower will make "the type of campaign" which will do the most good for the greatest number of Republican candidates—and that the President will support all the GOP candidates.

Nixon put it this way: "I don't know of any Republican candidates the President is going to oppose."

He said Eisenhower won't "make the mistake which Franklin D. Roosevelt made" in trying to purge members of his own party who disagreed with him on some major issues during the New Deal administration.

And, he added, Eisenhower won't "make the errors of Harry Truman" who he said made some of his campaigns "too vitriolic and too negative—driving away more voters than he won."

Schuman Says EDC Isn't Dead

PARIS, Sept. 1 (AP)—Robert Schuman, father of the EDC, declared today the European army plan is not dead.

He said the plan has a chance of being revived. If Britain agrees to participate in greater measure than before, the present treaty can be greatly simplified and many of the features disliked by some opponents can be removed or modified.

How long will it take?

"Perhaps too long."

Will the Germans wait?

"The Germans, I feel certain, want above all to bring about unification of Europe. That interests them more than participation in military defense."

This was the summary made by the former French foreign minister in an interview in the committee room of the almost deserted Chamber of Deputies.

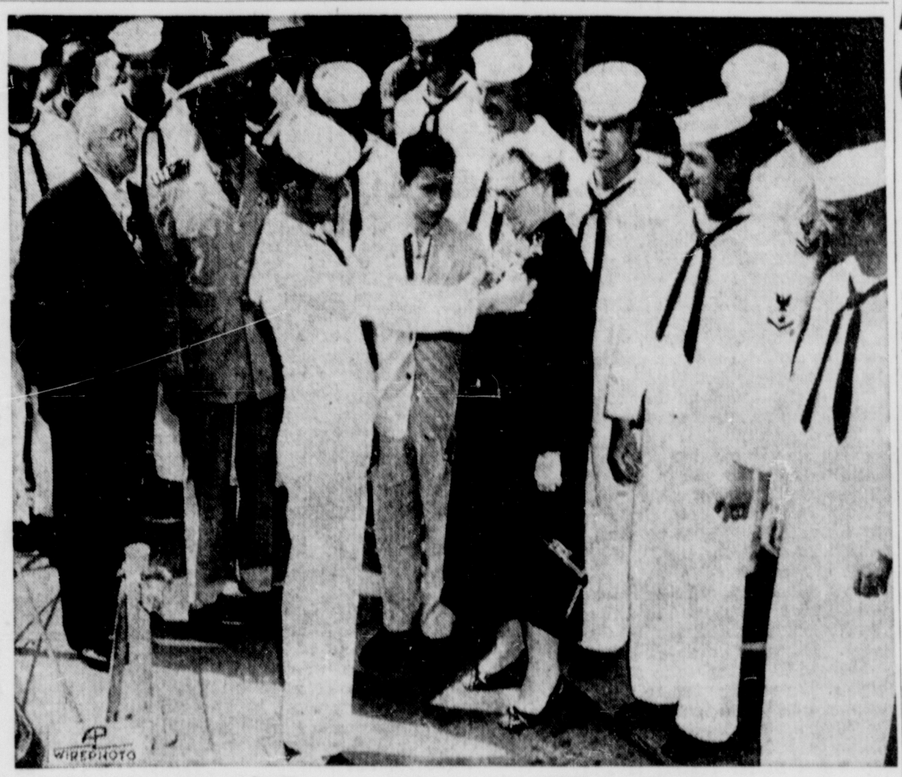
Only a few messengers and doormen stood at their posts in the Chamber, emptied of deputies who voted to go on two months vacation after rejecting the European Defense Community under circumstances dividing and embittering the Assembly more than at any time since the war.

Old North Church Signals For Help

BOSTON, Sept 1 (AP) — The old North Church, which lost its famous steeple in yesterday's hurricane, is sending out another signal for action tonight.

The Rev. C. R. Peck, the vicar, said he is mailing letters to the governors of the 48 states asking help in restoring the historic steeple in which hung the signal lanterns for Paul Revere.

Vicar Peck said he is asking the governors to appeal to church members and children in their states for contributions. He would like the fund to be similar to the penny campaign that restored the frigate Constitution in 1920.



Sullivans' Crew Honors The Sullivans

Mrs. Thomas F. Sullivan, Waterloo, Iowa, whose five sons were killed aboard the cruiser Juneau at Guadalcanal in World War II, receives a corsage from Cecil Marks, 22, Tampa, Fla., as the crew of the destroyer U. S. S. The Sullivans played host to Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan and their grandson, Leo, 13, center, at Philadelphia yesterday. Watching the ceremony are the father of the five heroes, at left, and the destroyer's commander, Cmdr. Charles Holzer, Santa Monica, Calif.

Eisenhower Signs Social Security Bill

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed into law, in a Rocky Mountain pine grove, legislation extending social security coverage and liberalizing benefits. He called the measure "one of the cornerstones to build a better and stronger America."

Besides extending coverage to 10 million additional Americans and providing for greater benefits, the new law also increases payments into the social security fund on the part of both employes and employers.

Ike "Happy To Sign" Bill

The President wore a rust-colored suede jacket, a tan sport shirt buttoned at the neck without a tie, and tan tweed slacks. His face was deeply tanned from golf and trout fishing.

In a prepared statement Eisenhower declared:

"I am very happy to sign the social security amendments of 1954. By enabling some 10,000,000 more Americans to participate in the old age and survivors insurance program, it gives them an opportunity to establish a solid foundation of economic security for themselves and their families."

He added that the bill, plus others in related fields which already had been signed into law, "will bolster the health and economic security of the American people.

"They represent one of the cornerstones of our program to build a better and stronger America."

President, Hoover Fish

While he waited for the bill to arrive by motor courier from Denver, Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover, his guest in the Rocky Mountains, got in some trout fishing in swift-running St. Louis Creek.

There was no immediate word on whether their luck was good or bad.

The president and Hoover were joined in the stream by the chief executive's youngest brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University.

All members of the vacation party were up early and slipped hurriedly into warm clothes. At 4 a.m. the temperature was a frosty 30 degrees—two below freezing—but it was considerably warmer by breakfast time. The temperature had climbed into the 70s by midmorning. Eisenhower served again as chef, turning out flapjacks and sausage and a steaming pot of coffee.

Rain Collapses Houses

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 1 (AP)—Three persons were killed in collapsing houses today as unceasing rain lashed down on Bombay, bringing the season's rainfall—since Mid-May—to 115 inches. This topped by one inch the state's 118-year-old rainfall record.

Bert Acosta, Flier Who Once Held Air Speed Mark, Dies

DENVER, Sept. 1 (AP) — Bert Acosta, veteran flier and race car driver, died today in the Jewish Consumptives' Relief Society Sanatorium here after a two-year illness. He was 59.

Acosta started flying a self-built plane in 1910 and 11 years later set a new flying speed record of 176.9 miles an hour. He flew with Adm. Richard E. Byrd and Bert Balchen across the Atlantic shortly after Charles Lindbergh's epic 1927 flight.

He later became a test pilot and aviation consultant, but collapsed in 1952 on a New York sidewalk with what was diagnosed as an advanced case of tuberculosis.

Reds Return Bodies Of 193 U. S. War Dead

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Sept. 2 (AP)—The vanguard of another group of Allied warriors was on the way home today from Communist soil. They are the fallen heroes who died and were buried in ground now under the Red Korean flag.

Eight dark green, Russian-built trucks delivered the bodies of 193 Americans and seven soldiers of unknown nationality yesterday to the Allies.

In turn, the U. N. Command handed over 500 Korean and 100 Chinese war dead, disinterred from the battlefield cemeteries of South Korea.

Japan Keeps Death Watch Over H-Bomb Test Victim

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 2 (AP)—Japanese, drawn closely together in their strongest national feeling since World War II, kept an agonized death watch today over the bedside of a failing, unconscious fisherman.

The sick man was Aikichi Kuboyama, radio operator who was dusted with radioactive ash along with 22 other crewmen of the Lucky Dragon last March 1 when the United States set off a hydrogen explosion at Bikini atoll.

Kuboyama, racked with radiation sickness and jaundice, clung feebly to life in a deep coma.

His wife has given up hope. His American and Japanese doctors have issued grave bulletins. And across Japan's four main islands the blackest headlines proclaimed: "Bikini Victim Near Death."

If Kuboyama dies, it is certain that U.S.-Japanese relations will sink to the lowest point since the Pacific war ended just nine years ago.

At Kuboyama's bedside there are the specters of the tens of thousands of men, women and children who died in the atomic fires at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. The official toll of these Pacific war bombings is listed as 152,034, but an American doctor and Japanese scientists have estimated that more than 300,000 persons died.

All the rancor, regret, bitterness and grief over the wartime atomic bombings has welled up into an almost hysterical national concern for the Bikini victims.

If Kuboyama dies, Japan will have an atomic martyr whose death cannot be blamed on the misfortunes of war.

This emotional storm has nullified almost all the good will gestures the United States had made in the Bikini case. To the Japanese, the fishermen are a symbol of all their atomic sufferings.

Legion Renews Fight With AMA Over Vets' Care

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The American Legion called today for expended government medical care for veterans and challenged the stand of the American Medical Assn. on that issue.

Resuming business sessions of the 36th national convention after yesterday's 11½-hour parade, the legionnaires fixed their policy through a number of resolutions, but delayed until tomorrow action on a series of others having to do with efforts to combat communism.

40 And 8 Still Segregated

The convention refused to interfere with the present segregated policy of a subsidiary, the 40 and 8 Society, rejecting a compromise resolution which would have given state Legion groups authority to decide the issue in their respective areas.

The Legion itself is unsegregated. Its fun-loving offshoot, the 40 and 8, is limited to white males. A convention committee earlier had rejected an effort to withdraw Legion support of the 40 and 8 unless it changed that policy.

Renewing its long-fought battle with the AMA over veterans' medical benefits, the Legion criticized the doctors' group for adopting last June resolutions which the legion said "indicted veterans as a class."

More VA Hospital Beds

The AMA has sought to limit government care of veterans with nonservice connected disabilities.

Other Legion resolutions called for more Veterans Administration hospital beds for mentally disabled veterans, air conditioning of hospitals for chronic ailments, facilities for treatment of veterans outside the United States, extension of World War I benefits to veterans of World War II and the Korean War, and an increase in disability and death benefits.

Group Takes All Evidence On 3 Charges

Indications Point To Early Windup Of Censure Inquiry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Senate investigators completed taking evidence on three of the five censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today, moving with a speed and orderliness previously unheard of in a proceeding of this kind.

With McCarthy away from the hearing room most of the time and sitting silent when he did attend, the six-member select committee moved to consider evidence on the remaining two charges tomorrow. All indications pointed to a speedy windup of the 48-hour-old inquiry.

The committee called two witnesses, both newspapermen, and otherwise confined itself to reading documents of public record, in taking evidence on charges that:

1. McCarthy committed contempt of the Senate in failing to testify before a 1952 subcommittee which investigated his financial and other affairs. McCarthy's lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, argued that this count should be thrown out on the ground that the '52 committee was improperly set up and went beyond its authority. Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) refused, however, to strike out the contempt charge at this time.

AP Reporters Testify

2. McCarthy has ridiculed fellow senators in "vulgar, base language." The committee subpoenaed two Associated Press reporters who testified the senator did make remarks attributed to him about Sens. Flanders (R-VT) and Hendrickson (R-NJ). McCarthy's lawyer indicated he would argue that the lawmakers attacked by McCarthy had said just as sharp things about the Wisconsin senator.

3. McCarthy "impugned the loyalty, patriotism and character" of Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker.

Two pieces of evidence were submitted on this point. One was the transcript of a hearing at which McCarthy told the general he was unfit to command. The other was Zwicker's service record, showing decorations for combat heroism in World War II.

This left for the committee only two other groups of charges which it has winnowed from some 40 allegations submitted by Flanders, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) in seeking a Senate vote of censure against McCarthy.

Security Issue Remains

One remaining charge is based on McCarthy's call, during the hearings on his row with Army officials, for government employes to give him evidence of subversion or other wrongdoing even if they disregard security regulations in doing so.

Maybank Dies Of Heart Attack

CHARLESTON, S.C., Sept. 1 (AP)—Burnet R. Maybank, South Carolina's 55-year-old senior senator, died unexpectedly early today after a heart attack.

In rising from city alderman and mayor of Charleston to the governorship and to the Senate, the black - haired scion of an old Charleston family never knew election defeat.

He died in sleep at his summer home at Flat Rock, N.C. Relatives said he was "feeling fine yesterday."

His death reduced Senate Democrats to 46. There are 48 Republicans and one Independent.

At Columbia, Gov. Byrnes said he would not consider appointing a successor until after the funeral here Friday at 11 a.m. at St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church.

Maybank succeeded Byrnes in the Senate in 1941 when the latter moved to the U.S. Supreme Court. He had won the Democratic nomination this year unopposed and had been assured of re-election in this Democratic state for his third full term.

N.C. Will File Brief In Segregation Case

RALEIGH, N.C., Sept. 1 (AP)—North Carolina will take part in the U.S. Supreme Court hearing next month on school segregation.

Gov. William B. Umstead and Atty. Gen. Harry McMullan announced today that North Carolina will file a brief in the case as a friend of the court.

Gore Blasts GOP; Says U. S. 'Drifts'

Senator Calls For Demo Congress

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) called tonight for the election of a Democratic Congress, saying that under the Republican administration, "We are drifting—just drifting—both at home and abroad.",

"Since we will have a Republican administration for two more years," the senator said, "the public interest requires the safeguard of a Democratic Congress."

Gore's half-hour radio speech—10:30—11 p.m. EDT—was on time granted the Democratic National Committee by the Mutual Broadcasting System. His office said that in a sense it was a reply to the review of Congress broadcast by President Eisenhower Aug. 23.

The Democratic committee released advance copies of Gore's speech.

In it, the senator questioned Eisenhower's comment that the administration had a "batting average" of .830 in Congress.

"For one thing, he failed to account for all his times at bat," Gore said.

Some "Hits" Were "Foul Balls"

"He used only 64 as the number of times the administration came to bat, while the records show 214 presidential requests to the Congress. Surely this would affect the batting average.

"For another thing, he listed several 'foul balls' as 'clean hits.' "

Under the foul ball category, Gore put the reciprocal trade program. He said the Democrats voted for the three-year extension and broadening of tariff-cutting powers the President asked, but were outvoted by Republicans who got through "a simple, meaningless, one-year extension."

"Yet this was listed as one of the 'hits' of the 83rd Congress."

Gore also attacked the administration record in the fields of taxes, atomic energy, power, farm, employment, defense and foreign relations.

He said:

"The Republicans came to power promising a bold, dynamic program. Yet where boldness and action have been required, we have had weakness, timidity and vacillation; where unity and clarity were indicated, the pattern has been one of discord and confusion."

Tax-Cut Unequal

On taxes, Gore said: "For the next year the tax cut dollar will be divided up this way: corporations will get 73 cents of the tax reduction dollar; persons earning more than $5,000 a year will get 18 cents. This leaves only 9 cents of the Republican tax-cut dollar for the American families who have earnings of less than $5,000 a year. Eighty per cent of all American families are in this latter group."

On atomic energy: "The attempts of the Republicans to give patent and power monopolies on peacetime uses of atomic energy to a few privileged corporations should shock every fair-minded American."

Power: "Neither the country's natural resources, nor its traditional public power policies can be safely entrusted to the combination of a Republican Congress and a Republican administration."

Farm: "The 83rd Congress has hurt—not helped—the American farmer . . . broke, rather than kept, campaign promises to the farmer . . . brought uncertainty, rather than stability to the American farmer."

Two More Suspended Lab Employes Return

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Two more of the 22 civilian employes suspended at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., during security investigations were returned to duty this week, the Army said today.

The Army confirmed reports of the reinstatement of Isadore Solomon of Shrewsbury, N. J., and Harold Stein, West Long Branch, N. J.

Since last June, four of the suspended personnel have been fired and seven cleared and restored to their jobs. Eleven cases are still awaiting decision.

TVA Resisting Power Contract

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority is resisting—temporarily at least—administration pressure to join the Atomic Energy Commission in a controversial private power contract ordered by President Eisenhower.

Harry A. Curtis, vice chairman of the TVA board, has described TVA's position in a letter to Rowland Hughes, Budget Bureau director. Curtis said the AEC has not revealed full details of the proposed contract to TVA and TVA is reluctant to enter into any negotiations without full knowledge.

Copies of the Curtis letter, which became available today, supported previous reports that TVA wants more information about the power contract before it becomes a party.

The proposal involves a contract which Eisenhower has directed AEC to negotiate with a private power combine known as the Dixon-Yates group for 600,000 kilowatts of power to be supplied by a 107-million-dollar steam plant to be built at West Memphis, Ark.

This power would be delivered to TVA at Memphis, Tenn., for distribution to consumers in the area. It would replace power which the TVA supplies to atomic plants. The proposal by the President is a substitute for TVA's plan to build a new steam plant near Memphis with funds which Congress has so far refused to appropriate.

Castillo Becomes Guatemala President

GUATEMALA, Sept. 1 (AP) — Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, leader of the "Liberation army" that overthrew the pro-Communist Guatemalan government in June, became president of the republic today by appointment of his Cabinet.

The three-man junta that had ruled for the past two months was dissolved and Castillo given full executive power.

The other charge, closely related, involves McCarthy's alleged "receipt of use of confidential information or classified documents or other confidential information from executive files."

Both charges stem from McCarthy's production, at the Army hearings, of a 2½ page memo which turned out to be a summary of a confidential FBI document on a search for possible espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. Watkins said as the hearings recessed today that the committee would make use of the Army-McCarthy hearings transcript.

The committee planned to recess the current hearings at the end of tomorrow's session and presumably to let McCarthy present his defense starting next Tuesday.

Fellow Prisoner Says Batchelor 'Pro' Spokesman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP)—Two witnesses in the general court-martial of Cpl. Claude Batchelor testified today they attended Communist-sponsored meetings with the Texan while they were in the same prisoner of war camp in Korea.

One witness, Cpl. Harold M. Dunn of Brooklyn, N. Y., said Batchelor was the spokesman for a progressive study group at Pyoktong Camp No. 5 in North Korea.

"Progressives" in the POW camps were Allied soldiers who made a study of Communist teachings and doctrines during their internment.

Dunn, now stationed at Ft. Jay, N. Y., said "unity" meetings were held on several occasions just prior to the armistice. He said the "progressives" made plans at these meetings to correspond with one another when they returned to the United States and to organize "study groups" in this country.

Batchelor, charged with collaborating with the enemy and informing on fellow prisoners while a POW, pleaded innocent to all charges and specifications.

Dunn, last witness before a recess until 9 a.m. tomorrow, testified that at meetings of the study groups "he (Batchelor) said when we got home we should organize small study groups."

On cross-examination the Brooklyn corporal said Batchelor helped other POWs in his company when they were ill, including Cpl. Edward Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va. Dunn said Batchelor also helped, by his contacts with Chinese guards, to bring about an improvement in POWs' food.

Batchelor and Dickenson were among the original group of 23 Americans who chose to stay with their captors and were the only two to change their minds and come back. Dickenson was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years hard labor last May on charges similar to those against Batchelor. Batchelor, 22, is from Kermit, Tex.

Bohas Janda, a blond youth from Lagrange, Tex., who was a POW from December 1950, to the end of the war, testified he was present with Batchelor at a meeting sponsored by the Chinese at Camp No. 5 in the Chinese Communist headquarters in June 1953.

Hoover Discovers President Has Lost His Fishing Privacy

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP) — Former President Hoover declared somewhat sternly today that "one of the degenerations of the last 30 years" is that the President of the United States no longer has any privacy in a trout stream.

With President Eisenhower at his side, Hoover — the chief executive's guest at a secluded ranch here—addressed his remarks to a score or more newsmen who had been invited into the ranch by Eisenhower.

Reporters had been asking both the President and Hoover about their luck in the nearby trout stream. Eisenhower said Hoover had hauled in the biggest trout so far.

Then Hoover—smiling a bit but unmistakably serious—declared:

"Thirty years ago we used to believe that there were only two occasions on which the American people had regard for the privacy of the president—when he was praying or fishing. And I now detect that you have lost the second part of that."

Batchelor and Dickenson were among the original group of 23 Americans who chose to stay with their captors and were the only two to change their minds and come back. Dickenson was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years hard labor last May on charges similar to those against Batchelor. Batchelor, 22, is from Kermit, Tex.

Bohas Janda, a blond youth from Lagrange, Tex., who was a POW from December 1950, to the end of the war, testified he was present with Batchelor at a meeting sponsored by the Chinese at Camp No. 5 in the Chinese Communist headquarters in June 1953.

Hoover Discovers President Has Lost His Fishing Privacy

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP) — Former President Hoover declared somewhat sternly today that "one of the degenerations of the last 30 years" is that the President of the United States no longer has any privacy in a trout stream.

With President Eisenhower at his side, Hoover — the chief executive's guest at a secluded ranch here—addressed his remarks to a score or more newsmen who had been invited into the ranch by Eisenhower.

Reporters had been asking both the President and Hoover about their luck in the nearby trout stream. Eisenhower said Hoover had hauled in the biggest trout so far.

Then Hoover—smiling a bit but unmistakably serious—declared:

"Thirty years ago we used to believe that there were only two occasions on which the American people had regard for the privacy of the president—when he was praying or fishing. And I now detect that you have lost the second part of that."

Dr. Elkins Takes Helm At U. Of Md.

Will 'Encourage Great Teaching'

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—Dr. Wilson H. Elkins took over the presidency of the University of Maryland with the promise he will "encourage great teaching."

The 45-year-old Texan, fresh from the presidency of Texas Western College at El Paso, was welcomed to his new job by the Board of Regents at a special meeting.

With them, he went through a routine agenda of University problems and reviewed the status of several building projects.

Among these is a request already made for three million dollars for a new library. The regents hope to get favorable action on the request from Gov. McKeldin and the General Assembly which meets in January.

Dr. Elkins previously had cited a new library as one of the university's greatest needs. He reiterated this at a news conference today before meeting with the regents.

"We need a fine library in keeping with the program, the staff and the student body," he declared. He said an adequate library is an important factor in getting and keeping high caliber instructors.

He classed the one at College Park as "not adequate for an institution of this size."

Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the Board of Regents, launched Dr. Elkins on his new job with a statement he had a personal hope the new president can improve faculty morale through better relationships between administration and faculty.

Judge Cole said Dr. Thomas B. Symons, long-time dean of the College of Agriculture who came out of retirement last January to be acting president, had made great strides in this direction in eight months.

Judge Cole expressed the regents' gratification at the way Dr. Symons had handled his interim assignment, turning to him and saying: "You improve with age."

Dr. Elkins talked about everything from football to "pure research" in response to questions at the news conference.

"I don't anticipate any serious difficulties," he said when asked about ending racial segregation in the undergraduate schools at College Park.

"We may have some social problems. There is no indication we will have an avalance of Negro students. It will be more an integration, gradually, and since it will be gradual we will be in a position to work out the problem rather easily."

He reported seven Negroes had applied for admission to the undergraduate school. Three have been admitted. One was rejected for failure to meet academic requirements. Three applications still are pending.

Dr. Elkins explained he has had only limited opportunity to become acquainted with the university since he was named president last April but in that time, he said, he noted it is "not as far advanced in basic research" as it ought to be.

It will be his purpose, he said, to achieve educational distinction for the state with a strong academic program at the university.

Attendance Mark Falls On Opening Day Of State Fair

TIMONIUM, Md., Sept. 1 (AP) — Attendance records fell today as more than 20,769 persons took advantage of clear, mild weather to attend opening day of the 73rd annual Maryland State Fair.

That many had passed through the turnstiles of Timonium Fair grounds well before the day was over. The crowd was half again as large as the 13,172 who attended the first day of the 1953 fair and gave impetus to fair officials' predictions that total attendance this year might top 250,000.

Phyllis Leftwich, Miss Maryland of 1954, and Michael J. Birmingham, chairman of the host Baltimore County Commissioners, opened the fair officially at noon by snipping ribbons across the midway.

The first five days of the agricultural extravaganza will have their focus on youth activities, and these got under way today with 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America competition in numerous divisions.

In the senior yearling class of the 4-H Holstein division, Montgomery County entries took the first seven places in the 18-animal contest.

In the dairy judging of Guernsey's, George Debnam, Baltimore County youth from Upperco, walked off with most of the honors. He exhibited the grand champion and senior champion for the division, took a blue ribbon in Class I, was first in junior sitting and judging and was judged the champion showman.

Among the earliest arrivals at the fair today was a brand new calf, born to a Jersey cow owned by 18-year-old Montgomery County girl, Carol Mills. The calf was born shortly after midnight yesterday.

Up today was judging of 4-H and FFA Guernsey and Holstein dairy cattle. Also being judged were certain classes of horses—Arabian, half-breds and horses other than thoroughbreds.

Girls representing 18 of the state's 23 counties began competition in a cooking contest.

More 4-H and FFA cattle judging and additional horse competition will be featured tomorrow.

Taking the grand championship ribbon today in the contest for the best 4-H Club booth was the Aquasco 4-H Club of Prince Georges County. The booth demonstrated proper lighting for study.

SOUTHERN EXPOSURE, TURNPIKE STYLE—Most of the home of Louis Gitlin near Willow Grove, Pa., was in the path of the Delaware River turnpike extension linking the Pennsylvania and New Jersey turnpikes—so that part of the house which was in the way had to come down. The part that was on ground not taken over by the turnpike authority doesn't concern highway engineers. They just left that part standing. Gitlin and three brothers have battled the turnpike since the extension was started, at one time holding off workmen with shotguns. They now are engaged in litigation over the damages the authority will pay for their properties.

"Foul" Claimed In Piano Playoff

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 1 (AP) — The music store owner who touched off a battle over pianos in the Anne Arundel County school system claimed today he had been fouled by late entry of two more competitors.

"The two new entries will only confuse the issue," protested Donald O. Keeney, whose piano was to face that of a competitor in a playoff scheduled for Glen Burnie High School Friday.

"If they're going to have four pianos instead of the original two, why limit it? Why not have 50 pianos and be done with it?"

The playoff was arranged by Dr. David S. Jenkins, county superintendent, and two more entries for the contest were accepted yesterday. Keeney had complained he could sell pianos to the school system cheaper than a competitor but that specifications were rigged to exclude the brand he handles.

Jenkins said the four pianos will be placed in a room and numbered one through four with their names blanked out. Music teachers will be allowed to play each one to see which they like best.

U.S.-Canadian Project Pays Off In Fish Bonanza

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Sept. 1 (AP)—A two million dollar joint investment by the United States and Canada is paying off with a bonanza harvest of salmon in this international boundary region.

Fishing fever is running at a peak pitch among the men who man the nets. The fishing folk haven't seen the likes of it for close to 40 years.

The catch of the red-meated salmon Monday alone by Canadian and United States boats was estimated to run close to a million fish, worth $2 apiece. Canneries are gutted. The school board at the nearby town of Anacortes decided to excuse children from school to help in the huge job of getting the fish into cans.

A single boat had a $20,000 catch in a single day and went back for more. The combined U. S.-Canadian catch in two weeks is estimated at 4½ million salmon, worth 9 million dollars.

State fisheries department officials estimate the catch will be the biggest since 1913—the year that a hillside of rock slid into British Columbia's Fraser River and cut off the main bulk of the salmon migrations for more than three decades.

It was the conquest of the rock barrier at Hellsgate on the Fraser by fisheries engineers that is credited with restoring the once rich runs to the spawning grounds.

Canada and the United States financed jointly a two million dollar project for a fishway blasted through rock at Hellsgate and for other upstream clearances. As an aftermath of that joint venture, the fishermen of Canada and the United States share equally in the catch of the salmon heading back toward the Fraser to spawn.

The count is supervised by an international commission so closely that on some days the fishermen of one country are allowed to spread their nets while those across the border are kept ashore, in order to equalize the catch.

Vast Underground Parking Garage Opens In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The city's new parking garage underneath Michigan Avenue and Grant Park on the lake front opened for business today.

Motorists began parking there—185 cars in the first hour—and thus began paying the bill for the project.

The garage cost $8,300,000. It has 880,000 square feet of floor space and can accomodate 2,359 cars on its two levels. City officials call it the largest garage of its kind in the world.

Car owners pay 40 cents for the first hour, $1.60 for nine hours, $2.40 for a whole day.

The garage is operated by the Chicago Park District.

Godmother Of RAF Dies In Scotland

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Sept. 1 — Lady Rachel MacRobert, known as the godmother of the Royal Air Force, died today after a brief illness.

She was born in Worcester, Mass., the only daughter of the Himalayan explorers, Dr. and Mrs. William Hunter Workman. Her husband, the late Sir Alexander MacRobert, founded the British India Corp.

Three of her sons died while serving in the RAF. When her youngest son, Sir Ian, was lost in action in 1941, she stirred the nation by buying a four-engined Stirling bomber for 25,000 pounds (worth $100,000 then) "to carry on her son's work."

Later, she gave another $80,000 dollars to the Air Ministry to buy four Hurricane fighter planes. She also put one of her homes at the disposal of the Air Ministry as a rest center for RAF personnel.

British Delegation Thanks China Reds For Hospitality

Editor's Note — The following story is from John Ridley, correspondent of the independent Conservative newspaper London Daily Telegraph, who is traveling with the British Labor party on its tour of Communist China).

By JOHN RIDLEY

CANTON, China, Sept. 1 (AP) — On the eve of its departure from China, the British Labor party delegation issued a brief statement last night thanking the Chinese Communist government for its hospitality.

The statement then went on to say how deeply impressed the group was by the efforts of the Chinese people to build their nation on modern lines.

"We have seen great exertions of the people in the face of an inheritance of primitive industrial techniques and the consequences of so many centuries of social stagnation," said the statement issued by the Labor group headed by Britain's former Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

"We sympathize with the efforts the Chinese people are making in this respect and believe this sympathy and understanding should be shown by the rest of the world in an immediate and practical form."

The statement added that the delegation was impressed by the fact that lack of communication had led to much misunderstanding and it was believed there was an earnest desire on the part of spokesmen of revolutionary China to end this isolation.

"For our part, we reciprocate most heartily," said the statement. "We are convinced that the peace of the world depends upon the closer communion between China and the rest of the world. The policy of exclusiveness can only imperil peace."

The statement concluded by saying: "We believe that peaceful coexistence along with active cooperation and mutual trade based upon it would ripen the understanding and bring us all closer together and thus reduce the danger of war."

The British delegation arrived in Canton by air yesterday afternoon from Hangchow. They leave today for the British crown colony of Hong Kong by train.

Man Has Life Expectancy Of 70 In Only Four Nations

ROME, Sept. 1 (AP) — Men are reaching their Biblically allotted "three score years and 10" in only four countries, and women in only seven, the world's population scientists were told yesterday.

Even with the world entering what may one day be called "the age of the elderly," mortality figures showed man has achieved a life expectancy of 70 years only in Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Netherlands.

Women's life expectancy is 70 of more in the United States, Australia, Denmark, Norway, Netherlands, England and Wales.

Longevity is increasingly favoring the female of the species, population experts reported at a 70-country conference called by the United Nations. The experts are pooling their knowledge on whether future generations of mankind may inherit a world with "standing room only."

Population is increasing at an unprecedented rate of 25 million a year, which would double the world's present population of 2½ billion in the next century.

Some of the specialists are advocating a system of birth control. Reports on that subjects were heard today. Others propose population redistribution and the development of atomic and solar energies through which, they say, the earth could provide for almost limitless expansion of mankind.

This terrific rate of population expansion is new. Birth rates always slightly outbalanced death rates. But Mortimer Spiegelman, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. statistician from New York, reported that it has been "little more than a century since a few countries in western Europe began to record the first appreciable reductions in death rates."

The specialists attribute the recent skyrocketing gains in population to the achievement of modern science in reducing death rates.

Dr. Marcelino Pascua, director-consultant on health statistics of the World Health Organization reported that man's life expectancy is steadily approaching the "three score years and 10" mark in many of the more scientifically advanced countries, although it has been reached in few.

His figures showed Ceylon and Japan with the greatest recent decreases in general mortality—Japan with a 51 percent decrease in the two decades up to 1952, and Ceylon with 46 percent.

Women already have forged ahead of men in longevity in the United States, where men probably will not reach the 70-year expectancy until after 1970.

There were 40,709,398 telephones in use in the U. S. in 1950.

Britain Ups Reserves, Cuts Active Forces

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Britain substantially increased its armed services reserves and auxiliary forces during the past year but reduced the number on active duty, the Ministry of Defense reported today.

Reserve and auxiliary forces totaled 636,600 July 1, or 145,300 more than a year previous. The total of men and women in active service at home and abroad July 1 was 839,000, or 26,600 less than a year before.

Democratic Leaders Plan To Organize In County Soon

The Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee is expected to convene soon for its organizational meeting.

The Allegany GOP State Central Committee met over a month ago and elected James Getty, of Lonaconing, assistant state's attorney, chairman.

Edgar M. Lewis, is vice chairman and Samuel Berry is secretary-treasurer. Other members are Victor Hebb, this city; George Jeffreys, Lonaconing, David Williams, Midland, and Francis Miller and Thomas Elias, both of Frostburg.

The Democrats will elect a chairman and secretary-treasurer.

Under the Republican rules, the chairman does not have to be a member of the committee, but in the Democratic committee the chairman must be an elected committeeman. However, the secretary-treasurer does not have to be elected, but can be appointed by the committee.

In addition to naming its officers, the Democratic committee must fill a vacancy on the board of six caused by the death of John Patrick Cain of Frostburg.

Prior to the election June 28, William L. Wilson Jr. was chairman of the Democratic guiding organization and Thomas B. Finan, secretary-treasurer.

The Democrats must be convened by the past chairman, Wilson, and it was understood this session will be held within the next week or two.

The five elected members of the Democratic group are Finan, John R. Kelly of this city, James E. Kenny, Westernport, C. William McDermott and F. Allan Weatherholt, both of this city.

U.S.-Canadian Project Pays Off In Fish Bonanza

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Sept. 1 (AP)—A two million dollar joint investment by the United States and Canada is paying off with a bonanza harvest of salmon in this international boundary region.

Fishing fever is running at a peak pitch among the men who man the nets. The fishing folk haven't seen the likes of it for close to 40 years.

The catch of the red-meated salmon Monday alone by Canadian and United States boats was estimated to run close to a million fish, worth $2 apiece. Canneries are gutted. The school board at the nearby town of Anacortes decided to excuse children from school to help in the huge job of getting the fish into cans.

A single boat had a $20,000 catch in a single day and went back for more. The combined U. S.-Canadian catch in two weeks is estimated at 4½ million salmon, worth 9 million dollars.

State fisheries department officials estimate the catch will be the biggest since 1913—the year that a hillside of rock slid into British Columbia's Fraser River and cut off the main bulk of the salmon migrations for more than three decades.

It was the conquest of the rock barrier at Hellsgate on the Fraser by fisheries engineers that is credited with restoring the once rich runs to the spawning grounds.

Canada and the United States financed jointly a two million dollar project for a fishway blasted through rock at Hellsgate and for other upstream clearances. As an aftermath of that joint venture, the fishermen of Canada and the United States share equally in the catch of the salmon heading back toward the Fraser to spawn.

The count is supervised by an international commission so closely that on some days the fishermen of one country are allowed to spread their nets while those across the border are kept ashore, in order to equalize the catch.

Vast Underground Parking Garage Opens In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The city's new parking garage underneath Michigan Avenue and Grant Park on the lake front opened for business today.

Motorists began parking there—185 cars in the first hour—and thus began paying the bill for the project.

The garage cost $8,300,000. It has 880,000 square feet of floor space and can accomodate 2,359 cars on its two levels. City officials call it the largest garage of its kind in the world.

Car owners pay 40 cents for the first hour, $1.60 for nine hours, $2.40 for a whole day.

The garage is operated by the Chicago Park District.

Godmother Of RAF Dies In Scotland

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Sept. 1 — Lady Rachel MacRobert, known as the godmother of the Royal Air Force, died today after a brief illness.

She was born in Worcester, Mass., the only daughter of the Himalayan explorers, Dr. and Mrs. William Hunter Workman. Her husband, the late Sir Alexander MacRobert, founded the British India Corp.

Three of her sons died while serving in the RAF. When her youngest son, Sir Ian, was lost in action in 1941, she stirred the nation by buying a four-engined Stirling bomber for 25,000 pounds (worth $100,000 then) "to carry on her son's work."

Later, she gave another $80,000 dollars to the Air Ministry to buy four Hurricane fighter planes. She also put one of her homes at the disposal of the Air Ministry as a rest center for RAF personnel.

U.S., EDC Dead, Might Undertake Reappraisal Of Difference Between Facts, Wishful Thinking

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — One reappraisal which the State Department might well undertake, now that France has destroyed EDC, is a reappraisal of the difference between hard facts and wishful thinking.

The American record of all-out support for the European Defense Community contains two examples of how hopes for the best may harden, sometimes with startling speed, into dead certain convictions that the best will happen.

One example is drawn from the whole period of U. S. promotion of the European project. During the previous Truman-Acheson administration and the Eisenhower-Dulles regime the official line of the United States has been that France would approve EDC. It was just a question of getting the plan to a vote in the National Assembly.

Premier Mendes-France complained recently that American officials claimed to know more about the French political situation than he.

Maybe he could have changed that situation if he had really tried but it is a fact that until the last few days before the Assembly debate there were many here who believed that EDC would succeed when the chips were down. They began to lose heart only when it became apparent Mendes-France would not give the project his support and active backing, that his prestige would work against rather than for it.

The other example of apparently letting the wish father the "fact" developed after Mendes-France took over the French premiership June 17. He had long been feared by American diplomats as a man whose policies would take France in the direction that the United States disapproved.

He had insisted for years that France must make peace in Indochina and he had found more to criticize than to praise in the EDC project.

The initial reaction in Washington to the new premier therefore was one of grave concern. But after a while Secretary of State Dulles conferred with Mendes-France in Paris and came away apparently persuaded that here after all was a man on whom the United States could rely. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, who saw Mendes-France in action during the Geneva negotiations on Indochina in August, apparently received a similar impression.

The conviction became strong in the State Department that Mendes-France would put EDC before the French Assembly fairly promptly and in such a way as to secure a fair, if not favorable, vote on approval. It proved to be an extremely misleading conclusion about his policies.

For Mendes-France acted in a contrary manner. In the first place he loaded the treaty with reservations which American officials and those of interested European countries considered crippling.

In the second place he sought approval of those reservations by the other countries in a meeting at Brussels two weeks ago instead of putting them to the Assembly for a vote first. Smith had understood Mendes-France would seek such a vote so that for the first time in three years European countries would know what kind of EDC France would accept.

Then, in the showdown Mendes-France declined to make approval of EDC a vote of confidence in his government, in other words he withheld from it the prestige of his personal position. And in the final showdown he was so critical of it that American officials thought him to be virtually in opposition.

Some officials here have a feeling of having been very badly let down. They apparently do not believe, however, or do not have any evidence to support speculation that he made a "deal" with the Reds at Geneva in order to get peace in Indochina.

On the contrary, various responsible authorities denounce this idea although they say that what the French premier did certainly came down to what the Russians wanted him to do.

Some Cougar Jets Grounded By Navy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Navy said today that one series of the Cougar jet fighters, the F9F7, has been grounded until changes can be made on an engine fitting.

A spokesman said the trouble appeared to be in a fuel nozzle support of the J33-A16 Allison engines used in this model of the Cougar.

In response to a query earlier the Navy had said its Cougars were not grounded.

West Virginia Farmer Held On Rape Charge

Benefits Of Rail Workers Hiked

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP) — Liberalized retirement, sick and unemployment benefits for railroad workers and their widows are provided in a bill signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.

Under the law, payments toward the benefits may be increased.

In the past, the employer and employe each paid 6¼ per cent of his salary, up to $300 a month, toward his retirement annuity. Now, the payments will be on salaries up to $350 a month. The employer only contributes ½ of 1 per cent of the worker's salary, up to $350 a month, toward sickness and unemployment benefits. Contributory payments were formerly on salaries up to $300 a month.

The new law provides that an employe's sickness and unemployment benefits will be not less than half his regular pay on his last railroad job in the preceding year up to a maximum of $42.50 a week. Almost all employes will get at least $30 a week, a Railroad Retirement Board spokesman said.

Another important revision reduces from 65 to 60 the age at which widows may receive monthly annuities. Widows with children receive benefits regardless of age.

Retired workers may now earn as much as $100 a month without forfeiting their annuity in that month.

Montgomery County Pet Curb Law Planned

ROCKVILLE, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—The Montgomery County Council yesterday decided to regulate the number of pets which may be kept in residential areas.

No details were set. The county attorney was directed to draw up a proposed amendment to the zoning code.

In other actions, the Council set two public hearings.

A meeting Sept. 21 will develop testimony on a plan to ease the traffic load on Georgia Avenue in Silver Spring by a quarter-million-dollar widening of Fenton Street.

On Oct. 25, the Council will hear views on a proposed ordinance to regulate slaughter houses in the county.

The Council approved the purchase, for $213,564, of a 71,000 square-foot lot at Cameron and Spring Streets in Silver Spring which will be made into a 170-car parking lot.

GROW A LAWN LIKE THIS IN 7 DAYS!

SCIENTISTS' FORMULA SHOOTS FANTASTIC GROWING POWER INTO LAWNS, PLANTS AND VEGETABLES INSTANTLY!

Transplant Flowers, Shrubs, Trees To Virtually Any Soil — Even Sand. Watch "Dying" Lawns Grow Richer, Thicker, Greener In 7 Days!

YOUR CHANCE TO TRY RX-15 WITHOUT RISKING A PENNY!

How would you like to make your bulbs bloom weeks ahead of your neighbors—double both the winter resistance and spring growing power of undernourished shrubs, trees, hedges, vegetables? Grow a richer, thicker, greener lawn in just 7 days with just 1 sprinkle from a watering pail? Then read this article!

It tells how now, YOU who may know next-to-nothing about gardening can turn your garden into the show-place of the community with thousands of colorful, flaming blossoms—not five years from now but this fall this coming spring even if right—even if your soil is undernourished.

How YOU can amaze the so-called experts in your neighborhood with a rich, thick carpet of lawn——and you won't even have to dirty your hands digging messy, evil-smelling manures into the soil.

"Why Won't Flowers Grow In My Backyard?"

If flowers won't grow for you—no matter how hard you try—in case after case it's been proven that your soil is to blame. Science tells us that almost 90% of all garden soils are deficient in at least one of the vital minerals a plant needs to bloom and flourish. And if you starve a plant of even one of these life-giving soil minerals you won't get many flowers no matter how much sun and water you give it—no matter how many hours you slave in your garden.

Sprinkle With RX-15 Save Hours of Extra Digging!

Finally in 1951 scientists at one of America's leading plant experiment stations tested new types of concentrated plant foods that could be dissolved in ordinary tap water, and when sprinkled on lawns or plants could go to work in minutes. No more extra drudgery, no more manure digging. This water soluble plant food was proven so fast-acting that it is absorbed by roots and reaches into every leaf, ster and tissue in 60 minutes.

Thousands of Flowers For Only a Few Minutes Extra Work!

And now do you realize what RX-15 means to you? It means that today you can go out with a sprinkling can and in a few minutes start to shoot new life into your garden. Revitalize your whole undernourished lawn . . . give it results you never dreamed possible in 7 days.

It means that, whether you're an expert gardener or the greenest beginner now with normal garden care you can grow masses of beautiful roses, dahlias, phlox, gladiolus and chrysanthemums in your garden. It means that no matter how starved your soil may be now, with a few sprinkles of RX-15 you can grow a thick, green lawn the very first time you try—and it will only cost you pennies to apply it! It means that you can grow hundreds of flowers in your window boxes—grow thousands of flowers this season from plants you already have in your garden, from bulbs you can still put in the ground.

And because RX-15 instantly feeds plants all the life-giving soil minerals they need for healthy bloom, it means that merely sprinkling with RX-15 can make starved, undernourished lawns, trees, shrubs, houseplants start to spring back to new life instantly!

It means that very possibly you may still pick basket after basket of plump fruits from trees, that stopped producing years ago.

You'll be amazed at the way scraggly plants, seedlings, shrubs, bulbs and trees start shooting out new buds, stems, branches—the way they produce thicker, greener, bigger leaves and flowers even in the most mineral-starved soil, when you sprinkle them with a spoonful of RX-15 dissolved in water . . . and it goes to work instantly!

Make This No-Risk Test On Your Lawn And Garden!

Since 1951, wnen RX-15 was first introduced to the public, it has become the fastest-selling water soluble plant food in the world. In less than two years, stores selling RX-15 had sold more to gardeners, farmers and nurserymen than ALL other plant foods combined by several times.

Thousands can tell you about the amazing results. From every corner of the United States and Canada letters are pouring in from home gardeners who have used RX-15 where everything else they had tried failed—in starved, undernourished soil, in sand — even in cinders. And on the basis of the astonishing results reported by these gardeners, the Garden Research Laboratories feel safe in making this daring money back guarantee!

We want you to try RX-15 on your own lawn for 7 days at our risk. Test it in transplanting on bulbs with seedlings. Test it on fruit trees, shrubs, hedges . . . on anything that grows—on anything that's hard to grow. And if your lawn isn't richer, greener, thicker in 7 days — if those hard-to-grow plants don't start to take on new life — if the foliage isn't greener, more luxuriant—if you don't see more buds, sprouts, flowers shooting out on your RX-15 treated plants than you've ever had before—then send back the unused portion and get back every penny you paid for it.

Make This 7 Day Test on Your Lawn! See for yourself how fast-acting RX-15 can turn your sick-looking grass into a rich carpet of lawn. Dissolve 1 tablespoon of RX-15 in a gallon of water and write the letters of your name right on your lawn. It takes only 60 seconds . . . yet in 7 days from today you'll see that RX-15 treated lawn growing so much thicker, greener, faster than your untreated section, you'll actually be able to read your name in the grass. And if you don't get these amazing results, simply send back the unused portion of RX-15 and get back every penny you paid for it.

U.S., EDC Dead, Might Undertake Reappraisal Of Difference Between Facts, Wishful Thinking

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — One reappraisal which the State Department might well undertake, now that France has destroyed EDC, is a reappraisal of the difference between hard facts and wishful thinking.

The American record of all-out support for the European Defense Community contains two examples of how hopes for the best may harden, sometimes with startling speed, into dead certain convictions that the best will happen.

One example is drawn from the whole period of U. S. promotion of the European project. During the previous Truman-Acheson administration and the Eisenhower-Dulles regime the official line of the United States has been that France would approve EDC. It was just a question of getting the plan to a vote in the National Assembly.

Premier Mendes-France complained recently that American officials claimed to know more about the French political situation than he.

Maybe he could have changed that situation if he had really tried but it is a fact that until the last few days before the Assembly debate there were many here who believed that EDC would succeed when the chips were down. They began to lose heart only when it became apparent Mendes-France would not give the project his support and active backing, that his prestige would work against rather than for it.

The other example of apparently letting the wish father the "fact" developed after Mendes-France took over the French premiership June 17. He had long been feared by American diplomats as a man whose policies would take France in the direction that the United States disapproved.

He had insisted for years that France must make peace in Indochina and he had found more to criticize than to praise in the EDC project.

The initial reaction in Washington to the new premier therefore was one of grave concern. But after a while Secretary of State Dulles conferred with Mendes-France in Paris and came away apparently persuaded that here after all was a man on whom the United States could rely. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, who saw Mendes-France in action during the Geneva negotiations on Indochina in August, apparently received a similar impression.

The conviction became strong in the State Department that Mendes-France would put EDC before the French Assembly fairly promptly and in such a way as to secure a fair, if not favorable, vote on approval. It proved to be an extremely misleading conclusion about his policies.

For Mendes-France acted in a contrary manner. In the first place he loaded the treaty with reservations which American officials and those of interested European countries considered crippling.

In the second place he sought approval of those reservations by the other countries in a meeting at Brussels two weeks ago instead of putting them to the Assembly for a vote first. Smith had understood Mendes-France would seek such a vote so that for the first time in three years European countries would know what kind of EDC France would accept.

Then, in the showdown Mendes-France declined to make approval of EDC a vote of confidence in his government, in other words he withheld from it the prestige of his personal position. And in the final showdown he was so critical of it that American officials thought him to be virtually in opposition.

Some officials here have a feeling of having been very badly let down. They apparently do not believe, however, or do not have any evidence to support speculation that he made a "deal" with the Reds at Geneva in order to get peace in Indochina.

On the contrary, various responsible authorities denounce this idea although they say that what the French premier did certainly came down to what the Russians wanted him to do.

In response to a query earlier the Navy had said its Cougars were not grounded.

FREDERICK, Sept. 1 (AP) — John Vernon Hagan, 38-year-old farmhand was held without bail here yesterday on a charge of raping a 39-year-old Charles Town, W.Va. woman.

State Trooper 1.C. Harold Basore said Hagan was picked up on the complaint of the married woman who said she was raped last Aug. 21 after giving Hagan a ride in her car.

Astor, 43, meanwhile married Mrs. Dolores Margaret Fullman, 26, of Miami Beach, Fla., a blonde divorcee, on Aug. 6, and now is honeymooning with her in Europe. It was his third marriage.

24 Yugos Seek Asylum

ANCONA, Italy, Sept. 1 (AP) — Twenty-four refugees from Communist Yugoslavia arrived today in a small motor boat and asked for political asylum in Italy.

Josip Punos, 33, owner of the boat, said his party of eight men, seven women and nine children, had crossed the Adriatic in 17 hours.

Benefits Of Rail Workers Hiked

FRASER, Colo., Sept. 1 (AP) — Liberalized retirement, sick and unemployment benefits for railroad workers and their widows are provided in a bill signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.

Under the law, payments toward the benefits may be increased.

In the past, the employer and employe each paid 6¼ per cent of his salary, up to $300 a month, toward his retirement annuity. Now, the payments will be on salaries up to $350 a month. The employer only contributes ½ of 1 per cent of the worker's salary, up to $350 a month, toward sickness and unemployment benefits. Contributory payments were formerly on salaries up to $300 a month.

The new law provides that an employe's sickness and unemployment benefits will be not less than half his regular pay on his last railroad job in the preceding year up to a maximum of $42.50 a week. Almost all employes will get at least $30 a week, a Railroad Retirement Board spokesman said.

Another important revision reduces from 65 to 60 the age at which widows may receive monthly annuities. Widows with children receive benefits regardless of age.

Retired workers may now earn as much as $100 a month without forfeiting their annuity in that month.

Montgomery County Pet Curb Law Planned

ROCKVILLE, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—The Montgomery County Council yesterday decided to regulate the number of pets which may be kept in residential areas.

No details were set. The county attorney was directed to draw up a proposed amendment to the zoning code.

In other actions, the Council set two public hearings.

A meeting Sept. 21 will develop testimony on a plan to ease the traffic load on Georgia Avenue in Silver Spring by a quarter-million-dollar widening of Fenton Street.

On Oct. 25, the Council will hear views on a proposed ordinance to regulate slaughter houses in the county.

The Council approved the purchase, for $213,564, of a 71,000 square-foot lot at Cameron and Spring Streets in Silver Spring which will be made into a 170-car parking lot.

Charles Darwin is credited with the theory of "the survival of the fittest."

A membership drive is to be planned and the Institute of Maryland Public Affairs discussed at the executive meeting of the Allegany County Teachers Association at 10 this morning at Allegany High School. Miss Gertrude Williams is presiding.

The membership drive is for the Allegany County Teachers Association, the Maryland Teachers Association and the National Education Association.

Woman Wins Legal Round To Stay In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A 61-year-old grandmother living in Baltimore won a round today in her fight against banishment behind the Iron Curtain.

Sen. Beall (R-Md) said the commissioner of immigration and naturalization has ordered a stay in any deportation of Mrs. Matrona Karpuk. An immigration hearing in Baltimore resulted in a ruling that Mrs. Karpuk was a former Communist, a citizen of Russia and should be deported.

Near the end of the recent session of Congress, Beall offered a bill to permit Mrs. Karpuk to continue residing in the United States.

Beall announced at that time he realized it was too late for action on his bill, but said he would reoffer it at the next session if the Board of Immigration Appeals decided against Mrs. Karpuk.

Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing now has written Beall that he had directed a stay of the deportation order until March 1, 1955, the senator said today.

Beall said he greatly appreciates the action taken by the commissioner.

"I sincerely hope," he said, "that the case will be finally settled in the established procedure by the appeals board. However, if necessary my bill will be reintroduced in order to make certain that Mrs. Karpuk's case receives the attention of the United States Congress."

Myrrh and frankincense were the most precious of early perfumes.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Shower

Mrs. Charles Robinson was hostess for a miscellaneous shower and prenuptial party in compliment to Miss Thelma Frances McDonald, fiancee of Kenneth Bridges.

Miss McDonald, daughter of Mrs. Thelma McDonald, Cash Valley Road, is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed at the Medical Arts Pharmacy. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Bridges, Narrows Park. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America. They are to be married early this month.

The shower was held at the home of the hostess, 609 Kent Avenue. A pink and white color scheme was combined with the brida. motif in the decorations. Roses were used throughout the house. The shower gifts were arranged beneath a pink and white umbrella held by a miniature bride. A bride doll centered the refreshment table and the favors were nosegays.

Guests were Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. James Hoban, Mrs. Clara Wineland, Mrs. Bridges, Mrs. Norma Fazenbaker, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Dorothy Murray, Mrs. Alice Broadwater, Mrs. Alma Ciccanti, Mrs. Rebecca Nagle, Mrs. George Phillippi, Miss Nancy Wilson, Miss Wilda Schade, Miss Kathryn Duncan, Miss Nancy Duncan, Miss Rosemary Herlock, Miss Janet Summerfield, Miss Myrna Luman, Miss Dorothy Shanholtz, Miss Barbara Bolinger, Miss Jo-Ann Corrigan and Mrs. Patricia Robb.

Woman Wins Legal Round To Stay In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—A 61-year-old grandmother living in Baltimore won a round today in her fight against banishment behind the Iron Curtain.

Sen. Beall (R-Md) said the commissioner of immigration and naturalization has ordered a stay in any deportation of Mrs. Matrona Karpuk. An immigration hearing in Baltimore resulted in a ruling that Mrs. Karpuk was a former Communist, a citizen of Russia and should be deported.

Near the end of the recent session of Congress, Beall offered a bill to permit Mrs. Karpuk to continue residing in the United States.

Beall announced at that time he realized it was too late for action on his bill, but said he would re-offer it at the next session if the Board of Immigration Appeals decided against Mrs. Karpuk.

Immigration Commissioner J. M. Swing now has written Beall that he had directed a stay of the deportation order until March 1, 1955, the senator said today.

Beall said he greatly appreciates the action taken by the commissioner.

"I sincerely hope," he said, "that the case will be finally settled in the established procedure by the appeals board. However, if necessary my bill will be reintroduced in order to make certain that Mrs. Karpuk's case receives the attention of the United States Congress."

Myrrh and frankincense were the most precious of early perfumes.

Bridges, Narrows Park. He is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and is employed by the Celanese Corporation of America. They are to be married early this month.

The shower was held at the home of the hostess, 609 Kent Avenue. A pink and white color scheme was combined with the brida. motif in the decorations. Roses were used throughout the house. The shower gifts were arranged beneath a pink and white umbrella held by a miniature bride. A bride doll centered the refreshment table and the favors were nosegays.

Parsons Lawyer Is Appointed To School Board

W. Del Roy Harner Succeeds Stalnaker

PARSONS—W. Del Roy Harner, of Parsons, an attorney-at-law, was appointed as a member of the Tucker County Board of Education to replace Darl Stalnaker who resigned. Harner was named to complete the two years of Stalnaker's unexpired term.

Parsons Lawyer Is Appointed To School Board

W. Del Roy Harner Succeeds Stalnaker

PARSONS—W. Del Roy Harner, of Parsons, an attorney-at-law, was appointed as a member of the Tucker County Board of Education to replace Darl Stalnaker who resigned. Harner was named to complete the two years of Stalnaker's unexpired term.

Fred Butcher, who was first placed in Pleasant Vale School was returned as a teacher of Parsons High School to replace Don H. Carr, who recently resigned to accept employment in Hagerstown, Md.

Darl Stalnaker, was appointed as custodian of Parsons High School to replace Howard C. Loughry, who retired from that position in June.

The Board voted to offer the position in Pleasant Vale to Thomas Bright, who had previously been placed on the extra list of teachers due to the lack of need for teachers in this county. Bright did not accept as he had accepted a teaching position in Ohio. The Board then authorized Harper to fill the vacancy.

The Board also reviewed the State Board of Education ruling that a child must be six years of age before February 1, 1955 in order to enroll in the September term of school. All children enrolling for the first time this year must also be immunized for small pox and diphtheria.

Armed Forces Reenlistees Assured Bonus

The Air Force-sponsored revised bonus bill for service reenlistees, recently signed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is now in effect throughout the Armed Forces, according to M/Sgt. Stewart of the local Air Forces recruiting station.

The new law more than doubles the scale of bonuses previously given to enlistees who go back on active duty before their 90-day reenlistment period expires, Stewart noted.

Under the old law a maximum of $1440 in four payments over a 30-year period was received. The new act enables a serviceman or woman to accumulate $2000 during 20 years and he could receive as much as $1200 for his first reenlistment.

The present law, Sgt. Stewart believes, is designed to benefit the Armed Forces as well as the individual, because the serviceman is granted recognition of his skill, since the bonus is computed on the rank he attained and because the services are enabled to retain qualified, trained and skilled men and women.

For immediate reenlistments, bonus payments under the new act, will begin at an estimated $650 rate for an average reenlistment, as compared to $250 under the old law.

Complete details may be obtained at the Air Forces Recruiting Offices, Post Office Building here.

Health Department Advises Spraying For Black Widows

The Health Department here has received a number of queries recently on the method of controlling Black Widow spiders.

Recommended was the use of a spray of DDT containing chlorethene, used liberally in dark places and under garbage cans.

The Black Widow, according to the dictionary, is the female of a common American spider and receives its name from its shining black body and its habit of devouring its mate.

Officials said the spider does not usually bite unless it is picked up or squeezed, or unless one puts one's hand in a nest containing eggs or young spiders.

A "water-boy" was employed on passenger trains in the 1840's. Before the days of news butchers and dining cars, he went through coaches carrying a tray of glasses and a pitcher of ice water. Railroad managements urged conductors to show great courtesy to passengers and see that they got "a plentiful supply of good, cold ice water."

Volunteers Asked To Aid Children

Those interested in assisting in the training program for handicapped children at the Kiwanis Sunshine Camp are urged to attend the meeting of the Association of Friends Aware of Handicapped Children today at 8 p. m. at Cumberland Savings Bank.

Mrs. John J. Long, president, said more volunteers are needed for various phases of the program. It is not necessary for a person to volunteer for daily duty but the association will appreciate an hour a week or whatever time can be afforded.

Transportation can be arranged, it was said.

Some of the areas in which volunteer help is needed include handicraft, music (such as rhythm band), direction of physical exercises and active games.

The association is hopeful of receiving new or used equipment necessary in its work. This would include items such as a piano, children's records, coordination and educational toys (beads, form boards, puzzles with large pieces, peg boards, large blocks or cartons), fingerpaints or paint brushes with long handles.

Mrs. Long said if any one has such equipment and is willing to donate it, arrangements for collection may be made by telephoning her at 2115.

GOC Publication Praises County Unit

Allegany County's top-rated Ground Observer Corps has received more national recognition—a two-page spread in the publication of the official GOC magazine "The Aircraft Flash."

The articles, illustrated with pictures, deals with one county licked its GOC problem with organization, determination and work. Pictures are shown of the observer posts at Cumberland (Hillstop Drive), Frostburg, Bedford Road and Cresaptown. A resume of work on the Pinto Post at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory included.

In another picture, a planning session of leaders, Charles G. Smith, county coordinator; John R. Jackle, Bedford Road supervisor; Elmer Seaber, Cumberland supervisor; Emory M McKenzie, Cresaptown supervisor; Vincent Bollino, Frostburg supervisor; Wilbur Ross, Frostburg chief observer; and James L. Robinette, county GOC publicity director, is shown.

The publication points out the Pittsburgh Filter Center is fortunate in having a county such as Allegany included in its jurisdiction.

" x x x Allegany County has one of the most effective GOC organizations in the entire air defense system. This organization administers and maintains five 24-hour observation posts with an efficiency and aggressiveness that would do credit to any business organization.

"Allegany County is living proof that public apathy toward Civil Defence and the GOC can be overcome with determination and hard work—especially the latter."

Special praise is given to Smith as GOC leader "to whom the Ground Observer Corps is as much a part of life as eating and sleeping. Often the latter comes out second best when GOC activities beckon," the magazine says.

Smith, who has received a Freedoms Foundation award for his work, first got into the GOC in 1949. The Cumberland outpost is located in the back yard of his home on Hilltop Drive.

The article goes on to narrate the building program undertaken by the GOC in which scores of business firms and individuals contributed materials and resulted in five buildings with an estimated worth of over $10,000.

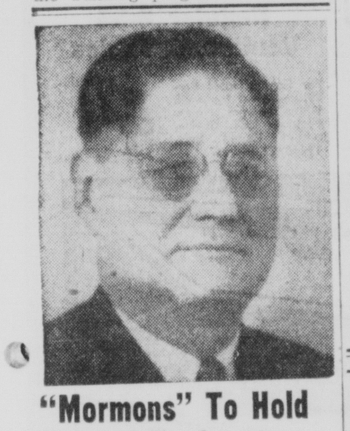
It also credits the Deremer brothers, John, Bill and Ray, with doing most of the construction work; praises the business-like method of operation of the posts and the sound, aggressive public relations of Robinette in cooperation with local newspapers and radio stations.

Cited as typical of the unselfish devotion to duty by the hundreds of observers are J. W. McElfresh of Cumberland Outpost, who stands watch between regular travels between here and Pittsburgh as a railway clerk and has logged over 1,000 hours; and his blind stepson, William Gum.

"Other observers are not content to serve at just one post so several of them stand watch at two x x x x. Scores of Allegany County's volunteers have received Medals of Merit for service ranging from 250 to 3,000 hours," the magazine said.

Among plans for the future, it is pointed out, are a new and better observation post for Cumberland; a press camera for publicity work; physical improvements in all buildings; and a continued effort to recruit still more than the 700 trained volunteers enrolled in the county program.

In commenting on recent praise heaped upon the county GOC by William G. Barger, county CD director, the GOC publication adds: "The Air Force joins you in that salute, Mr. Barger."



"Mormons" To Hold Special Conference

Cornelius Zappey, President of the East Central States Mission, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (commonly known as the Mormon Church) will preside at a special Conference to be held in Cumberland, Maryland, Sunday, September 5, 1954. Sessions will convene at 10 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. The public is invited to attend these meetings, to be held at Eastern Standard Time. There are no collections in "Mormon" meetings. Mr. Zappey will be accompanied by his wife, Adriana M. Zappey, and Winston E. Christensen, Counselor in the Mission Presidency.

Mr. Zappey is loved and respected by thousands of people throughout the entire world. He is at present serving on his fourth mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. His first mission was filled in his native land of Holland. He labored there from 1920-1922 as a missionary. He was joined by his wife soon after, and they labored together in Holland for the next two years. During this time Mr. Zappey did extensive translating work—translating from English into Dutch. He worked through an entire translation of the Book of Mormon.

In 1946, at the close of World War II, until 1950, the couple was again called to Holland, where they presided over the Netherlands Mission. Here they took charge of the distribution of $3,000,000 worth of Church Welfare Commodities—as well as pioneering the work of microfilming vital statistical records for the Genealogical Society archives — making arrangements for this work through Government officials.

At present, Mr. Zappey is presiding over the East Central States Mission, which includes the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, and West Virginia.

Mr. Zappey was born in Rotterdam, Holland, on Nov. 13, 1894. He came to America in 1911, and was married in the "Mormon" temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, to Adriana Meyer, also a native of Holland.

Mr. Zappey is a prominent Salt Lake City merchant and businessman. He is owner of Holland Furniture and Holland Stores, and has extensive real estate holdings in Salt Lake City. He has aided many emigrants from Holland, Germany, and Scandinavian countries in "getting a start in America."

He is an intimate associate of Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, in the United States Presidential Cabinet.

Mr. Zappey's message will be of vital importance to all, and everyone is extended a cordial welcome to attend these special meetings.

The location for the meeting is: Wallace and Lee Street. Eastern Standard Time.

Youth Injured, Misses Party

A five-year-old local youth missed out on his own birthday celebration Tuesday after he was struck by a car while crossing a street to invite relations to a party in his honor.

The boy, Garry Penrod, is the son of City Patrolman and Mrs. Paul Penrod, 316 Independence Street. He was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital Tuesday night for X-rays and observation after being struck by a car operated by Howard J. Metty, 508 Fectig Avenue.

Officer Penrod said he had sent his son across the street to invite some relations over for cake and ice cream. His son ran from between two parked cars and into the path of the Metty vehicle. The accident was unavoidable, Officer Penrod said, and no charges will be preferred.

Sacred Heart attaches reported the youth in "good" condition yesterday morning. A "repeat" celebration will be held in a day or so, the father indicated.

Students From Bean's Cove Will Attend School Here

The annual Bean's Cove, Pa., school situation has cropped up with the parents, in a surprise move, deciding to send their children to three Cumberland parochial schools instead of having them make the long trip over the mountain to Everett.

The move on the part of the residents of the isolated Southampton Township farm community is one more round in their years-old fight to have their children educated in Maryland schools, only a few miles distant to the south.

Everett-Southern Joint School District authorities had no comment on the development other than to say that their school buses would continue to pick up students desiring to attend either the new Chaneysville Elementary School or Everett-Southern Joint High School.

Arrangements Made

Financial and other arrangements for attendance at Cumberland Catholic schools have been completed by a newly formed Bean's Cove Citizens Club which has acquired a school bus and will undertake to purchase books for the use of Cove students.

Bean's Cove high school students for a number of years have been required to attend Everett-Southern Joint High School if they wished to obtain their education tuition-free.

Grade school students have, until this year, attended their own small school at Flintstone Creek in the Cove. Last spring, however, the grade school was closed and plans were made by the school district for the youngsters to be carried by bus to the new Chaneysville Elementary School beginning with the school term just opened.

Only about eight Bean's Cove youngsters answered "present" when teachers in the Everett district called the roll on the first day of school Monday. Six children turned up at the new Chaneysville school and it was reported that two had gone to Everett-High School.

On the other hand, about 38 youngsters will cross the line into Maryland next week for the opening of school there. Mrs. Anthony McElfish, a member of the Southampton school board and one of the leaders of the Bean's Cove Citizens Club, said that Catholic school authorities in Cumberland have agreed to allow both Catholic and Protestant students from Bean's Cove to attend parochial schools this year free of tuition.

They have also agreed to furnish noon lunches at no cost to the Pennsylvania youngsters. The only charges will be for transportation, books and other school supplies. Mrs. Robert Ambrose, who is treasurer of the Citizens Club, said that the group intends to see to it that no Cove family has to pay either for transportation or books. "The club is going to raise enough money to meet school costs," she said, adding that a series of social events and other fund-raising projects are planned.

Schooling arrangements which have been made in Maryland were outlined by Mrs. McElfish. Grade school youngsters will attend the St. Peter's and Paul's School. High school boys attend La Salle High School and girls will attend Ursuline Academy.

Arrangements have been made for two high school boys who have been attending Flintstone High School to complete their education there. The Citizens Club plans to raise the money for their tuition.

Arrangements By Club

Mrs. McElfish emphasized that all arrangements with Maryland school heads had been made by the Bean's Cove Citizens Club and not by either the Southampton or Everett Southern school boards.

"We are grateful to the Cumberland Catholic school officials for the consideration they have shown us," she said. "Without their assistance we should have been faced wtih the unhappy alternatives of having our children cross the mountain on the way to Chaneysville and Everett or travel as much as 88 miles a day skirting around the mountain."

Mrs. McElfish also expressed the Citizens' Club's gratitude to an unnamed Pittsburgh benefactor who has provided it with a school bus and sufficient funds for its operation for a time.

Bean's Cove and the rest of Southampton Township have long differed on where Cove students should be schooled. When the township was incorporated into the Everett-Southern Joint School District, Cove residents went to court in a vain effort to prevent the district from compelling attendance of high school age boys and girls at Everett High School. Cove residents argued, unsuccessfully, that the road over the mountain was too hazardous for school bus travel. The court ruled against them and the case was not pushed again until this summer. It flared anew when the Bean's Cove grade school was closed this year and plans announced by the joint school district for the transportation of Cove grade students to the new Chaneysville Elementary School.

Ex-Mayor Thomas Post Visits City Hall

Former Mayor Thomas S. Post dropped into City Hall yesterday and spent a portion of the time renewing acquaintances.

In good health and with eyes sparkling when he spoke about it, Post talked mostly about his farm near Great Cacapon, W. Va., where he has spent most of his time since retiring from public life, and the improvements he has made there.

Asked if he regretted leaving or missed public life, the former city executive said "No, I don't think so," adding he is enjoying his farm and probably should have started t farm sooner.

Post served four consecutive two-year terms as Mayor of Cumberland but declined to seek a fifth term in the 1952 municipal elections.

Students From Bean's Cove Will Attend School Here

The annual Bean's Cove, Pa., school situation has cropped up with the parents, in a surprise move, deciding to send their children to three Cumberland parochial schools instead of having them make the long trip over the mountain to Everett.

The move on the part of the residents of the isolated Southampton Township farm community is one more round in their years-old fight to have their children educated in Maryland schools, only a few miles distant to the south.

Everett-Southern Joint School District authorities had no comment on the development other than to say that their school buses would continue to pick up students desiring to attend either the new Chaneysville Elementary School or Everett-Southern Joint High School.

Arrangements Made

Financial and other arrangements for attendance at Cumberland Catholic schools have been completed by a newly formed Bean's Cove Citizens Club which has acquired a school bus and will undertake to purchase books for the use of Cove students.

Bean's Cove high school students for a number of years have been required to attend Everett-Southern Joint High School if they wished to obtain their education tuition-free.

Grade school students have, until this year, attended their own small school at Flintstone Creek in the Cove. Last spring, however, the grade school was closed and plans were made by the school district for the youngsters to be carried by bus to the new Chaneysville Elementary School beginning with the school term just opened.

Only about eight Bean's Cove youngsters answered "present" when teachers in the Everett district called the roll on the first day of school Monday. Six children turned up at the new Chaneysville school and it was reported that two had gone to Everett-High School.

On the other hand, about 38 youngsters will cross the line into Maryland next week for the opening of school there. Mrs. Anthony McElfish, a member of the Southampton school board and one of the leaders of the Bean's Cove Citizens Club, said that Catholic school authorities in Cumberland have agreed to allow both Catholic and Protestant students from Bean's Cove to attend parochial schools this year free of tuition.

They have also agreed to furnish noon lunches at no cost to the Pennsylvania youngsters. The only charges will be for transportation, books and other school supplies. Mrs. Robert Ambrose, who is treasurer of the Citizens Club, said that the group intends to see to it that no Cove family has to pay either for transportation or books. "The club is going to raise enough money to meet school costs," she said, adding that a series of social events and other fund-raising projects are planned.

Schooling arrangements which have been made in Maryland were outlined by Mrs. McElfish. Grade school youngsters will attend the St. Peter's and Paul's School. High school boys attend La Salle High School and girls will attend Ursuline Academy.

Arrangements have been made for two high school boys who have been attending Flintstone High School to complete their education there. The Citizens Club plans to raise the money for their tuition.

Arrangements By Club

Mrs. McElfish emphasized that all arrangements with Maryland school heads had been made by the Bean's Cove Citizens Club and not by either the Southampton or Everett Southern school boards.

"We are grateful to the Cumberland Catholic school officials for the consideration they have shown us," she said. "Without their assistance we should have been faced wtih the unhappy alternatives of having our children cross the mountain on the way to Chaneysville and Everett or travel as much as 88 miles a day skirting around the mountain."

Mrs. McElfish also expressed the Citizens' Club's gratitude to an unnamed Pittsburgh benefactor who has provided it with a school bus and sufficient funds for its operation for a time

Frightening Fury Of The H-Bomb

Reports of the speeches made at the Air Force Association conferences at Omaha give every American occasion for thought. The talks, delivered by men who can speak with authority, dealt with problems of military strategy in the hydrogen age. What made them thought-provoking was the underlying assumption that there can be another major war and that, if it comes, it will be fought with hydrogen weapons.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff of the Air Force, solemnly warned that the United States has no choice but to assume that an enemy would use nuclear weapons—and that this country must therefore be prepared to use them in return without hesitation.

Then he added that this nation's ability to use atomic and hydrogen weapons is a gun that can "penetrate to the heart of the giant whose shadow falls across the world." And: "As long as we hold that gun firmly and steadily he will not deliberately cause us to fire it."

Not many Americans will disagree with him—or challenge his statement that it would be unrealistic to think of answering an attack with limited retaliation, excluding nuclear weapons. That might be suicide. At the same time, few will challenge his rejection of the idea of preventive war, even though the new long-range Russian jets recently displayed represent a considerable investment of Soviet strength in a weapon used primarily for offensive warfare.

The public now understands what Marvin J. Kelly, president of Bell Telephone Laboratories and a high Defense Department adviser, meant in saying that hydrogen weapons have reached "a colossal, frightening" destructive power fraught with "unmeasurable danger to civilization."

The hydrogn bomb exploded early this year produced a radioactive "fall-out" that was different from the one resulting from the first H-bomb test in 1952. This cloud of heavy ashes, which showered Japanese fishermen 80 miles away, revealed the U. S. now has not only a city-destroying but a "province-crippling" weapon. And, according to reports, the H-bomb tested by the Russians last summer was of this type.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Leader No More

It is evident, from all that is happening in the world these days, that the United States is no longer the world leader. There will be Americans who will regret this change of position, but there is nothing that can be done about it. As a matter of fact, there is no world leader.

Beginning with the Marshall Plan, the American concept of world leadership was to export capital to any country that would take it, for the purpose of strengthening that country, and to win it to our foreign policies. The countries were strengthened and, as each one felt the sap of renewed vigor, it sensed the necessity for independence from the United States. It would be possible to withdraw all aid and then some of these countries would flop on their faces, but that is not American policy. We go on strengthening these countries with our aid despite their open antagonism to us.

Great Britain, for instance, was the real stumbling block to the European Defense Community. As Great Britain did not join it, why should France? Why should anybody? Sir Winston Churchill has for a decade spoken eloquently about a European union, but there is not a scintilla of evidence that he has ever done anything about it and, in the recent show-down with Premier Mendes-France, he missed the chance of putting France into the EDC. If Churchill insisted on Great Britain staying out, what arguments could the spell-binder produce for getting Mendes-France to put his country into it?

"Le Dauphine Libere" asks a very nice question:

"Will Churchill encourage the supporters of the treaty to put it rapidly into application? One must not forget the responsibility which Britain bears because of her abstention and hesitation. He might at any rate hold out the hope that she would ultimately rally to the EDC once the community had become a tangible reality . . ."

Perhaps the answer lies in a speech delivered by Kuo Mo-jo, vice chairman of the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference, at a reception in honor of Clement Attlee in Peking, when he said:

"Our distinguished guests here are well aware that since the end of the second World War, as a result of the practice of the 'policy of strength,' of arms drives and war preparations, the world has been sharply divided into two groups — the East and the West — and the contacts between them have been artificially prevented, the cultural interchange and trade between them obstructed. This has caused the international situation to become tenser day by day and has constituted a great menace to world peace.

"Faced with this menace, an increasing number of people have in the last few years expressed a common desire. They demand that the different countries of the world resolve international disputes through negotiation so that the international tension may be gradually eased.

"This universal appeal found an initial fulfillment in the recent Geneva Conference. The achievements of the Geneva Conference testify that by means of negotiations any international dispute can be resolved reasonably and justly."

Geneva represented Red China's first and most diplomatic victory. At Geneva, it was Red China that eliminated the United States from world leadership. At Geneva, Great Britain and France joined with Soviet Russia and Red China against the United States.

This means a new day for the United States. We cannot become friends and associates of Soviet Russia or Red China even if public opinion in the United States would have it so, which it will not. The reason: it is the fixed policy of the Soviet Universal State to isolate the United States, to reduce its economic leadership in the world, to limit its political influence in Europe and Asia. To date, the Russian success in this direction is so outstanding that it would be stupid for the Russians to reverse their course.

By separating this country from Great Britain and France at Geneva, Soviet Russia has accomplished the first forward step in the isolation of the United States. The second could be the total failure of EDC. The third step would be a revival of the Little Entente which would indirectly make France an ally of the Soviet Universal State via Poland and Czechoslovakia.

As these steps develop, the United States will be forced to switch its focus from Europe to Asia.

Swords At 50 Paces

France Is Good Reason For Outlawing Reds As Party

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Whatever doubts have been expressed as to the wisdom of the virtually unanimous action of Congress recently in stripping the Communist party of its legal right to exist as a political party must have been swept away by the news dispatches from Paris telling how a bloc of 100 Communists sitting in the French National Assembly furnished the majority to kill the Allied plan for the defense of Europe.

Few Americans realize that the Communist party in France, which has been permitted to infiltrate labor unions and French cultural institutions, now has all the rights of any other political party there. It has elected 100 deputies to the French Parliament, and they contribute from their salaries to finance the Communist party. Their allegiance is more often to the Soviet government than to France.

This was dramatically illustrated not long ago when the French National Assembly rose in tribute to the fallen heroes of Dien Bien Phu in Indochina—but the 100 Communist deputies sat in silence.

Hold Balance Of Power

The final vote rejecting the European Defense Community agreement was 319 to 264. But if the bloc of Communist votes—there were 99 present — were substracted, it would make the vote 264 in favor of the EDC treaty to 220 against it.

The presence of the Communist bloc inside the French Parliament means that a Soviet-controlled group holds the balance of power in the government of one of America's principal allies, on whose territory many of our soldiers are based and where atomic weapons are necessarily located.

The French attitude, generally speaking, toward Communists in government is not as hostile as it is in America. There has been a well-defined effort lately to keep Communists out of the executive departments in Paris but, in a government where the legislature controls the executive departments, no cabinet is apparently willing to demand that Communists be deprived of their status as a political party.

There have been no parliamentary investigating committees in France to sound a warning and alert the French people to the dangers of Communist infiltration. Instead, the Communist party is accepted as a political entity rather than a conspiracy. This lack of awareness of the danger of allowing a group of deputies who are fostering the policies of a foreign power to occupy the legitimate status of a political party is one of the strangest paradoxes in French history.

One explanation given is that many of the Communist deputies were prominent in the French underground during the period that the Nazis occupied France and that they became popular because of their wartime devotion to the cause of France. But little by little some French leaders have been disillusioned, and it will not be surprising if a new issue arises now in France—to find a way to outlaw the Communist party.

Full-Fledged Fifth Column

Some steps have been taken in the last few years to cut down Communist representation by a change in the electoral law which reduces for the Communists the number of seats in proporation to the votes cast—a rule that does not affect non-Communist parties. But this apparently has not been enough to eliminate the Communist power. For today the 100 Communist deputies are a controlling bloc in the French Parliament. They have just been able to win for Soviet Russia one of its biggest diplomatic victories, as it is well known that Soviet propaganda and Communist partisans in France have worked for months to force a truce in Indochina and to defeat EDC.

As so often happens with a conspicuous issue, it is true that the EDC had many weaknesses which made it possible for nationalistic feelings to be aroused. The Communists merely exploited an unpopular plan, or rather one that was played up as likely to give Germany a chance to rebuild her armament and attack France.

But, with or without any type of EDC plan, the rearmament of Germany has become essential to the defense of Europe, and it will be interesting now to see how the Communists maneuver French policy to prevent, if possible, the adoption of any formula for German rearmament by the countries allied against Soviet Russia.

What they have needed in France is a few French McCarthys and, if they had had them, maybe the free world and the Western alliance would be stronger today. For the Communist party in France is not a political party—it is a full-fledged "fifth column" not unlike the one by which the Nazis penetrated the French Parliament and army prior to 1940 and thereby brought about the easy conquest of France.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

In the course of Pentagonal parlor pastimes we find the hand is Zwicker than the eye.

The general has been processed from Camp Kilmer to Zama in one easy investigation.

While remembering the pomp we forget the circumstances.

Wasn't it something about a dentist being made a major for bravery in the face of the enemy?

We want to say that General Zwicker took it like a soldier. Full pay, arrears, travel expenses, living quarters allotment and miscellaneous.

He goes to Japan to sing the Pinkerton role in Poor Butterfly. If anything else comes up in the Pentagon it will not be a meal on a dumbwaiter.

No power on the mezzanine can recall General Zwicker without a counter-investigation from Joe McCarthy. The case is beginning to take a Dior flat-look.

From Alpha to Zama it was politics poor and simple. The posse didn't catch Jesse James but they made a moulage of his footprints. We are promised a complete rundown of l' affaire Kilmer by October with the end-figures in neon lights.

The questioning of the hero-dentist was as unbiased as a weather report. It was just a temporary filling.

Senator McCarthy says he will bring Zwicker back for re-takes, also quizzerate the 30 officers on the Pentagon panel and keep his best side toward the cameras. All talk and no point of order makes Mac a dull boy.

Which is probably where you tuned in. The score, McCarthy pitching, Stevens catching, Schine left on base.

In the non-negotiable interim, who's for Zama?

Remote South American Communities Are Found To Be Free Of Cancer

By Frank Edwards

While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several guest columnists, today's being Frank Edwards, commentator.

WASHINGTON—Wrangling jingoists make the headlines—but quiet researchers make the progress.

London . . . In a gigantic hangar used as a factory during World War II, a select group of eight British scientists are conducting closely guarded tests of a radically new type of automobiles. If it lives up to their expectations, it might revolutionize the industry.

The new British experimental job uses a very small engine which operates a tiny hydraulic pump. The pump delivers the power to the wheels by activating a transmission filled with mercury. The British are so jealous of the car that they test it indoors in the daytime, take it out for sprints on the air base only after dark. Since it is light, fast, and has surprisingly few moving parts, the British hope it will open new markets in areas where price and dependability are of paramount importance.

Brazil . . . . A recent discovery in the war against cancer has upset a theory and replaced it with a question mark.

In South America teams of biologists are probing deep into the jungle in search of the answer to cancer. They are studying the living habits of isolated communities where cancer is unheard of. By our standards, the people are underfed. They ofttimes lack even rudimentary medical care. They have poor sanitation standards. But they do not have cancer. Why? The biologists are checking the water supply, the food, the air and the soil in hope that somewhere in that combination they may find the factor which enables these people to withstand the cancer scourge. Research under those circumstances is grueling, heartbreaking work, but it goes on 24 hours a day.

Paradoxically, the discovery of these cancer-free communities in remote South American areas deflates the theory that cancer might be caused by exposure to cosmic rays from outer space. These people in the borders of the jungle get the same dosage of cosmic rays as the city dweller receives. But certain groups of the jungle dwellers do not have cancer. Why? Thus far, nobody knows, but patient researchers are trying to find out.

California . . . . One of the best-kept secrets of the aviation world is the fact that we have been flight testing a ram jet plane for the past three months. Ram jets are the so-called flying stovepipes; with no moving parts, they are nothing more than a tube with a fire inside, fed by fuel pumped in at high pressure.

Joker is that the ram jet cannot operate until a comparatively high air speed is reached. Our designers have whipped that one by equipping the test planes with conventional jet engines which get the plane into the air and moving at the required speed. Then the pilot turns on the mighty ram jets, cuts off the ordinary jets, and goes streaking away at speeds in excess of 1,600 miles per hour.

Test pilots have been flying the ram jet jobs regularly on a course that takes them several hundred miles out to sea off the West Coast. They are in constant touch with radar stations which track them every inch of the way. In case anything goes wrong, Uncle Sam wants to know all about it as quickly as possible.

Test speeds of today become the schedule speeds of tomorrow. As you fly over the Mojave Desert in today's passenger plane at 300 miles an hour, you can sometimes faintly discern the wagon tracks of the 49'ers who did well to make 300 miles in a month! And the 300 miles per hour of today's passenger liners will soon be outmoded by planes which are flying secretly today.

All change is not necessarily progress, however. For example, in the New Hebrides Islands hydrogen peroxide is on the best-seller list—not for its medicinal value but for its ability to change the color of the natives hair from its normal black to a brilliant orange. Since the change is far from permanent, the natives are spending too much of their restricted incomes for peroxide, say the authorities there. And speaking of bleaching the hair, the Japanese girls are turning blonde at $3 per treatment. One Tokyo beauty salon reports that 20 per cent of the customers are women who want to become blondes — or who are already blonde and want to stay that way. Editorials in Japanese papers denouncing the fad have had the result that such editorials usually have when women's fashions are concerned.

New York . . . Latest trick in the advertising trade is to hire models who resemble famous people. Attracts attention to the advertising and saves the cost of securing the endorsement of the celebrity. One young man, who has the good fortune to resemble a famous movie star, suddenly found himself very much in demand. In one magazine issue, he appeared in three different ads, plugging a tooth paste, a cigaret and a hearing aid.

Indiana . . . . A businessman brought in a three-pound wad of gummy black paper which he claimed was money, damaged by water. The banker sent it in to the Treasury Department. It was eventually determined that he really did have some damaged money, more than $40,000 worth, and the Treasury replaced it for him. The Treasury also examined his income tax returns for the past few years. As a result, Uncle Sam is going to ask for the entire amount which it replaced for him—plus interest. Seems that the gentleman forgot to mention that he had it when he made out his tax returns a few years ago.

Although the cost of living is still hovering around the all-time high, there is a bright spot: the price of dinosaur bones is down slightly. If you are planning to take part in one of those safaris after big game in Africa, perhaps you would like to take with you these words of wisdom from famed white hunter Nicobar Jones, who said: "Hippo ham is delicious—if you remember to shoot him first."

The Old Man

By Stewart Alsop

LOUISVILLE, Ky.

The kind of people a touring reporter meets on his travels — politicians, local sages, other newspapermen — almost unanimously believe that former Vice President Alban Barkley will handily defeat Sen. John Sherman Cooper in the Senate race here.

Two reasons are advanced for this conviction. One is simply the old man himself — Alban Barkley, 78 years old, 50 years in politics; 40 years off and on in Washington, four years the traditional heart's beat from the White House.

Barkley has become a habit with Kentuckians. Not all of them admire him. But almost all of them have at least a sneaking affection for him.

After a talk with Barkley in the Presidential suite of Louisville's ancient Seelbach Hotel, this reporter can understand why. The Seelbach's Presidential suite, with its high ceilings, its ornate woodwork, and its atmosphere of leisurely, pre-World War One comfort, inspires a strong nostalgia for a simpler past. So does Alben Barkley.

Not that there is anything particularly nostalgic or old-fashioned about Barkley's political views. He is, for example 100 per cent for such recent inventions as the TVA system and rigid, high farm price supports. There was considerable bitterness in the White House when Sen. Cooper deserted the administration on both these issues. Cooper's votes made Barkley just as angry as anyone in the White House — Cooper, he implies, has been sneaking away with good Democratic issues, in his dastardly way.

Old-Fashioned Politician

Yet Barkley is an old-fashioned politician just the same. He learned his politics in a time when there was no way to reach the voters except to bellow at them, person-to-person. The candidate's voice was expected to carry a quarter of a mile against a headwind, and a campaign was, more even than now, a physical endurance contest.

Barkley is proud of his local sobriquet — "Iron Man Barkley" — which he won by his custom of making 16 or 17 ear-shattering speeches a day towards the climax of all his campaigns. He intends to repeat this performance this year — this time for a specific purpose.

The purpose is to deal with what is known here as "The Age Issue." Some of Cooper's supporters — though notably not Cooper himself — believe that the best way to beat Barkley is to exploit this "issue," for all its is worth, by putting it about that Barkley is on the threshold of senility.

There are those here who think "The Age Issue" may kick back against the Republicans. "If the old man is beaten after so many years," Barkley's supporters say mournfully, "he will surely die of a broken heart." It seems exceedingly unlikely that tough old Barkley would do anything of the sort, but the line may appeal to the sentimentality of Kentuckians.

At any rate, Barkley himself plans to dispose of the matter of his age not by sentimental appeals, but by demonstrating that he is still "Iron Man Barkley" — still capable of telling more jokes, jerking more tears, shaking more hands, crowning more beauty queens, and making more speeches than anyone else.

So much is made here of "The Age Issue" simply because there are no genuine issues, between Barkley and Cooper. Cooper has even protected himself against Democratic flank attacks by flatly committing himself against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who is political poison in this state.

Both Well-Liked

Moreover, Barkley's personal popularity is probably matched, or almost so, by Cooper's, and in his own peculiar way, Cooper is also a superb campaigner. Thus the real difference between the two men comes down to the simpler fact that Barkley is a Democrat and Cooper is a Republican.

This is the second reason why Barkley is so generally regarded as the winner here. The Democratic party label alone may be enough to elect him. The political pattern in Kentucky, observers here believe, has snapped back to normal, after having been twisted all out of shape in 1952, by Eisenhower's popularity, the Korean War, and many other factors.

Indeed, there are those who believe that Kentucky's political pattern has snapped back towards the Democrats much further than normal, largely because both farmers and industrial workers are discontented. If this is true, it has obvious national political significance.

Good Sanitation Practices Imperative To Avoid Polio

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has done much to help us understand poliomyelitis. The disease no longer is obscure and children often talk about it on a par with measles, mumps, and chicken pox. Not long ago I overheard a youngster say, "I hope I don't get polio this year."

After examining a 15-year-old girl who complained of headache and sore throat, I told the family in her presence that she had a cold. The teenager winked and sighed with relief as she said, "You know what I was worrying about, don't you?"

This increased awareness of the disease may explain why it appears to be on the increase. More and more physicians are making the diagnosis and reporting all cases to the health department. Many are of the mind, non-paralytic variety.

News spreads like wildfire. Someone says: "A boy in the next block was rushed to the hospital with polio." When the physician discovers that the youngster does not have the disease, the lad is sent home within a day or two. Unless this follow-up information is known, the neighbors continue to list the young man as one of the community's polio victims.

The seasonal nature (August, September and October) of polio has led many individuals to associate the condition with the harvest. In certain areas, cutting the wheat is blamed, whereas others accuse the ripening fruit, the fruit fly, or insects in general.

At the time of this writing, we do not know how the infection is transmitted and, in this respect, your guess is as good as mine. On the other hand, everything points to spread via the respiratory or the intestinal tracts.

This suggests ways to avoid polio. It is imperative to practice good sanitation. Children and adults should wash their hands frequently, particularly after using the toilet and before eating. Youngsters must be taught not to use soiled towels and washcloths, or to eat or drink from dishes or glassware that others are using.

We also know that fatigue and chilling increase susceptibility to infection. Parents must insist upon early bedtime and the swim period ought to be limited during the height of the polio season. Children who are fond of water must don a warm robe between dips.

Every infectious illness should be viewed with suspicion. Children with minor colds are to go to bed and stay there until well. Call a physician should headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness, or stiffness of the neck and back develop.

The possibilities are good that it is not polio but there is no sense in taking a chance.

FILL IN MORNING

K. F. writes: Is it all right for a diabetic to fix his syringe the night before for morning use?

REPLY

The needle and syringe can be sterilized but there is no advantage in filling it the night before. Insulin should be kept in the refrigerator and filling the syringe takes just a moment.

MOUTH INFECTION

Mrs. H. S. writes: My son has had trench mouth for several months and has been to three dentists. He is better for a week or 10 days and then the condition comes back. He is 25 and has beautiful teeth with no fillings. Can you help us?

REPLY

More concentrated care evidently is necessary in your son's case. When the disease recurs this frequently, I usually suggest hospitalization. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on trench mouth.

SMOKING AND TEMP

R. C. writes: Could chain smoking cause a daily subnormal temperature?

REPLY

No. Smoking constricts the blood vessels and may reduce the temperature of the skin but does not affect the internal temperature.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Frightening Fury Of The H-Bomb

Reports of the speeches made at the Air Force Association conferences at Omaha give every American occasion for thought. The talks, delivered by men who can speak with authority, dealt with problems of military strategy in the hydrogen age. What made them thought-provoking was the underlying assumption that there can be another major war and that, if it comes, it will be fought with hydrogen weapons.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of staff of the Air Force, solemnly warned that the United States has no choice but to assume that an enemy would use nuclear weapons—and that this country must therefore be prepared to use them in return without hesitation.

Then he added that this nation's ability to use atomic and hydrogen weapons is a gun that can "penetrate to the heart of the giant whose shadow falls across the world." And: "As long as we hold that gun firmly and steadily he will not deliberately cause us to fire it."

Not many Americans will disagree with him—or challenge his statement that it would be unrealistic to think of answering an attack with limited retaliation, excluding nuclear weapons. That might be suicide. At the same time, few will challenge his rejection of the idea of preventive war, even though the new long-range Russian jets recently displayed represent a considerable investment of Soviet strength in a weapon used primarily for offensive warfare.

The public now understands what Marvin J. Kelly, president of Bell Telephone Laboratories and a high Defense Department adviser, meant in saying that hydrogen weapons have reached "a colossal, frightening" destructive power fraught with "unmeasurable danger to civilization."

The hydrogn bomb exploded early this year produced a radioactive "fall-out" that was different from the one resulting from the first H-bomb test in 1952. This cloud of heavy ashes, which showered Japanese fishermen 80 miles away, revealed the U. S. now has not only a city-destroying but a "province-crippling" weapon. And, according to reports, the H-bomb tested by the Russians last summer was of this type.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Leader No More

It is evident, from all that is happening in the world these days, that the United States is no longer the world leader. There will be Americans who will regret this change of position, but there is nothing that can be done about it. As a matter of fact, there is no world leader.

Beginning with the Marshall Plan, the American concept of world leadership was to export capital to any country that would take it, for the purpose of strengthening that country, and to win it to our foreign policies. The countries were strengthened and, as each one felt the sap of renewed vigor, it sensed the necessity for independence from the United States. It would be possible to withdraw all aid and then some of these countries would flop on their faces, but that is not American policy. We go on strengthening these countries with our aid despite their open antagonism to us.

Great Britain, for instance, was the real stumbling block to the European Defense Community. As Great Britain did not join it, why should France? Why should anybody? Sir Winston Churchill has for a decade spoken eloquently about a European union, but there is not a scintilla of evidence that he has ever done anything about it and, in the recent show-down with Premier Mendes-France, he missed the chance of putting France into the EDC. If Churchill insisted on Great Britain staying out, what arguments could the spell-binder produce for getting Mendes-France to put his country into it?

"Le Dauphine Libere" asks a very nice question:

"Will Churchill encourage the supporters of the treaty to put it rapidly into application? One must not forget the responsibility which Britain bears because of her abstention and hesitation. He might at any rate hold out the hope that she would ultimately rally to the EDC once the community had become a tangible reality . . ."

Perhaps the answer lies in a speech delivered by Kuo Mo-jo, vice chairman of the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference, at a reception in honor of Clement Attlee in Peking, when he said:

"Our distinguished guests here are well aware that since the end of the second World War, as a result of the practice of the 'policy of strength,' of arms drives and war preparations, the world has been sharply divided into two groups — the East and the West — and the contacts between them have been artificially prevented, the cultural interchange and trade between them obstructed. This has caused the international situation to become tenser day by day and has constituted a great menace to world peace.

"Faced with this menace, an increasing number of people have in the last few years expressed a common desire. They demand that the different countries of the world resolve international disputes through negotiation so that the international tension may be gradually eased.

"This universal appeal found an initial fulfillment in the recent Geneva Conference. The achievements of the Geneva Conference testify that by means of negotiations any international dispute can be resolved reasonably and justly."

Geneva represented Red China's first and most diplomatic victory. At Geneva, it was Red China that eliminated the United States from world leadership. At Geneva, Great Britain and France joined with Soviet Russia and Red China against the United States.

This means a new day for the United States. We cannot become friends and associates of Soviet Russia or Red China even if public opinion in the United States would have it so, which it will not. The reason: it is the fixed policy of the Soviet Universal State to isolate the United States, to reduce its economic leadership in the world, to limit its political influence in Europe and Asia. To date, the Russian success in this direction is so outstanding that it would be stupid for the Russians to reverse their course.

By separating this country from Great Britain and France at Geneva, Soviet Russia has accomplished the first forward step in the isolation of the United States. The second could be the total failure of EDC. The third step would be a revival of the Little Entente which would indirectly make France an ally of the Soviet Universal State via Poland and Czechoslovakia.

As these steps develop, the United States will be forced to switch its focus from Europe to Asia.

Swords At 50 Paces

France Is Good Reason For Outlawing Reds As Party

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Whatever doubts have been expressed as to the wisdom of the virtually unanimous action of Congress recently in stripping the Communist party of its legal right to exist as a political party must have been swept away by the news dispatches from Paris telling how a bloc of 100 Communists sitting in the French National Assembly furnished the majority to kill the Allied plan for the defense of Europe.

Few Americans realize that the Communist party in France, which has been permitted to infiltrate labor unions and French cultural institutions, now has all the rights of any other political party there. It has elected 100 deputies to the French Parliament, and they contribute from their salaries to finance the Communist party. Their allegiance is more often to the Soviet government than to France.

This was dramatically illustrated not long ago when the French National Assembly rose in tribute to the fallen heroes of Dien Bien Phu in Indochina—but the 100 Communist deputies sat in silence.

Hold Balance Of Power

The final vote rejecting the European Defense Community agreement was 319 to 264. But if the bloc of Communist votes—there were 99 present — were substracted, it would make the vote 264 in favor of the EDC treaty to 220 against it.

The presence of the Communist bloc inside the French Parliament means that a Soviet-controlled group holds the balance of power in the government of one of America's principal allies, on whose territory many of our soldiers are based and where atomic weapons are necessarily located.

The French attitude, generally speaking, toward Communists in government is not as hostile as it is in America. There has been a well-defined effort lately to keep Communists out of the executive departments in Paris but, in a government where the legislature controls the executive departments, no cabinet is apparently willing to demand that Communists be deprived of their status as a political party.

There have been no parliamentary investigating committees in France to sound a warning and alert the French people to the dangers of Communist infiltration. Instead, the Communist party is accepted as a political entity rather than a conspiracy. This lack of awareness of the danger of allowing a group of deputies who are fostering the policies of a foreign power to occupy the legitimate status of a political party is one of the strangest paradoxes in French history.

One explanation given is that many of the Communist deputies were prominent in the French underground during the period that the Nazis occupied France and that they became popular because of their wartime devotion to the cause of France. But little by little some French leaders have been disillusioned, and it will not be surprising if a new issue arises now in France—to find a way to outlaw the Communist party.

Full-Fledged Fifth Column

Some steps have been taken in the last few years to cut down Communist representation by a change in the electoral law which reduces for the Communists the number of seats in proporation to the votes cast—a rule that does not affect non-Communist parties. But this apparently has not been enough to eliminate the Communist power. For today the 100 Communist deputies are a controlling bloc in the French Parliament. They have just been able to win for Soviet Russia one of its biggest diplomatic victories, as it is well known that Soviet propaganda and Communist partisans in France have worked for months to force a truce in Indochina and to defeat EDC.

As so often happens with a conspicuous issue, it is true that the EDC had many weaknesses which made it possible for nationalistic feelings to be aroused. The Communists merely exploited an unpopular plan, or rather one that was played up as likely to give Germany a chance to rebuild her armament and attack France.

But, with or without any type of EDC plan, the rearmament of Germany has become essential to the defense of Europe, and it will be interesting now to see how the Communists maneuver French policy to prevent, if possible, the adoption of any formula for German rearmament by the countries allied against Soviet Russia.

What they have needed in France is a few French McCarthys and, if they had had them, maybe the free world and the Western alliance would be stronger today. For the Communist party in France is not a political party—it is a full-fledged "fifth column" not unlike the one by which the Nazis penetrated the French Parliament and army prior to 1940 and thereby brought about the easy conquest of France.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

In the course of Pentagonal parlor pastimes we find the hand is Zwicker than the eye.

The general has been processed from Camp Kilmer to Zama in one easy investigation.

While remembering the pomp we forget the circumstances.

Wasn't it something about a dentist being made a major for bravery in the face of the enemy?

We want to say that General Zwicker took it like a soldier. Full pay, arrears, travel expenses, living quarters allotment and miscellaneous.

He goes to Japan to sing the Pinkerton role in Poor Butterfly. If anything else comes up in the Pentagon it will not be a meal on a dumbwaiter.

No power on the mezzanine can recall General Zwicker without a counter-investigation from Joe McCarthy. The case is beginning to take a Dior flat-look.

From Alpha to Zama it was politics poor and simple. The posse didn't catch Jesse James but they made a moulage of his footprints. We are promised a complete rundown of l' affaire Kilmer by October with the end-figures in neon lights.

The questioning of the hero-dentist was as unbiased as a weather report. It was just a temporary filling.

Senator McCarthy says he will bring Zwicker back for re-takes, also quizzerate the 30 officers on the Pentagon panel and keep his best side toward the cameras. All talk and no point of order makes Mac a dull boy.

Which is probably where you tuned in. The score, McCarthy pitching, Stevens catching, Schine left on base.

In the non-negotiable interim, who's for Zama?

Remote South American Communities Are Found To Be Free Of Cancer

By Frank Edwards

While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several guest columnists, today's being Frank Edwards, commentator.

WASHINGTON—Wrangling jingoists make the headlines—but quiet researchers make the progress.

London . . . In a gigantic hangar used as a factory during World War II, a select group of eight British scientists are conducting closely guarded tests of a radically new type of automobiles. If it lives up to their expectations, it might revolutionize the industry.

The new British experimental job uses a very small engine which operates a tiny hydraulic pump. The pump delivers the power to the wheels by activating a transmission filled with mercury. The British are so jealous of the car that they test it indoors in the daytime, take it out for sprints on the air base only after dark. Since it is light, fast, and has surprisingly few moving parts, the British hope it will open new markets in areas where price and dependability are of paramount importance.

Brazil . . . . A recent discovery in the war against cancer has upset a theory and replaced it with a question mark.

In South America teams of biologists are probing deep into the jungle in search of the answer to cancer. They are studying the living habits of isolated communities where cancer is unheard of. By our standards, the people are underfed. They ofttimes lack even rudimentary medical care. They have poor sanitation standards. But they do not have cancer. Why? The biologists are checking the water supply, the food, the air and the soil in hope that somewhere in that combination they may find the factor which enables these people to withstand the cancer scourge. Research under those circumstances is grueling, heartbreaking work, but it goes on 24 hours a day.

Paradoxically, the discovery of these cancer-free communities in remote South American areas deflates the theory that cancer might be caused by exposure to cosmic rays from outer space. These people in the borders of the jungle get the same dosage of cosmic rays as the city dweller receives. But certain groups of the jungle dwellers do not have cancer. Why? Thus far, nobody knows, but patient researchers are trying to find out.

California . . . . One of the best-kept secrets of the aviation world is the fact that we have been flight testing a ram jet plane for the past three months. Ram jets are the so-called flying stovepipes; with no moving parts, they are nothing more than a tube with a fire inside, fed by fuel pumped in at high pressure.

Joker is that the ram jet cannot operate until a comparatively high air speed is reached. Our designers have whipped that one by equipping the test planes with conventional jet engines which get the plane into the air and moving at the required speed. Then the pilot turns on the mighty ram jets, cuts off the ordinary jets, and goes streaking away at speeds in excess of 1,600 miles per hour.

Test pilots have been flying the ram jet jobs regularly on a course that takes them several hundred miles out to sea off the West Coast. They are in constant touch with radar stations which track them every inch of the way. In case anything goes wrong, Uncle Sam wants to know all about it as quickly as possible.

Test speeds of today become the schedule speeds of tomorrow. As you fly over the Mojave Desert in today's passenger plane at 300 miles an hour, you can sometimes faintly discern the wagon tracks of the 49'ers who did well to make 300 miles in a month! And the 300 miles per hour of today's passenger liners will soon be outmoded by planes which are flying secretly today.

All change is not necessarily progress, however. For example, in the New Hebrides Islands hydrogen peroxide is on the best-seller list—not for its medicinal value but for its ability to change the color of the natives hair from its normal black to a brilliant orange. Since the change is far from permanent, the natives are spending too much of their restricted incomes for peroxide, say the authorities there. And speaking of bleaching the hair, the Japanese girls are turning blonde at $3 per treatment. One Tokyo beauty salon reports that 20 per cent of the customers are women who want to become blondes — or who are already blonde and want to stay that way. Editorials in Japanese papers denouncing the fad have had the result that such editorials usually have when women's fashions are concerned.

New York . . . Latest trick in the advertising trade is to hire models who resemble famous people. Attracts attention to the advertising and saves the cost of securing the endorsement of the celebrity. One young man, who has the good fortune to resemble a famous movie star, suddenly found himself very much in demand. In one magazine issue, he appeared in three different ads, plugging a tooth paste, a cigaret and a hearing aid.

Indiana . . . . A businessman brought in a three-pound wad of gummy black paper which he claimed was money, damaged by water. The banker sent it in to the Treasury Department. It was eventually determined that he really did have some damaged money, more than $40,000 worth, and the Treasury replaced it for him. The Treasury also examined his income tax returns for the past few years. As a result, Uncle Sam is going to ask for the entire amount which it replaced for him—plus interest. Seems that the gentleman forgot to mention that he had it when he made out his tax returns a few years ago.

Although the cost of living is still hovering around the all-time high, there is a bright spot: the price of dinosaur bones is down slightly. If you are planning to take part in one of those safaris after big game in Africa, perhaps you would like to take with you these words of wisdom from famed white hunter Nicobar Jones, who said: "Hippo ham is delicious—if you remember to shoot him first."

The Old Man

By Stewart Alsop

LOUISVILLE, Ky.

The kind of people a touring reporter meets on his travels — politicians, local sages, other newspapermen — almost unanimously believe that former Vice President Alban Barkley will handily defeat Sen. John Sherman Cooper in the Senate race here.

Two reasons are advanced for this conviction. One is simply the old man himself — Alban Barkley, 78 years old, 50 years in politics; 40 years off and on in Washington, four years the traditional heart's beat from the White House.

Barkley has become a habit with Kentuckians. Not all of them admire him. But almost all of them have at least a sneaking affection for him.

After a talk with Barkley in the Presidential suite of Louisville's ancient Seelbach Hotel, this reporter can understand why. The Seelbach's Presidential suite, with its high ceilings, its ornate woodwork, and its atmosphere of leisurely, pre-World War One comfort, inspires a strong nostalgia for a simpler past. So does Alben Barkley.

Not that there is anything particularly nostalgic or old-fashioned about Barkley's political views. He is, for example 100 per cent for such recent inventions as the TVA system and rigid, high farm price supports. There was considerable bitterness in the White House when Sen. Cooper deserted the administration on both these issues. Cooper's votes made Barkley just as angry as anyone in the White House — Cooper, he implies, has been sneaking away with good Democratic issues, in his dastardly way.

Old-Fashioned Politician

Yet Barkley is an old-fashioned politician just the same. He learned his politics in a time when there was no way to reach the voters except to bellow at them, person-to-person. The candidate's voice was expected to carry a quarter of a mile against a headwind, and a campaign was, more even than now, a physical endurance contest.

Barkley is proud of his local sobriquet — "Iron Man Barkley" — which he won by his custom of making 16 or 17 ear-shattering speeches a day towards the climax of all his campaigns. He intends to repeat this performance this year — this time for a specific purpose.

The purpose is to deal with what is known here as "The Age Issue." Some of Cooper's supporters — though notably not Cooper himself — believe that the best way to beat Barkley is to exploit this "issue," for all its is worth, by putting it about that Barkley is on the threshold of senility.

There are those here who think "The Age Issue" may kick back against the Republicans. "If the old man is beaten after so many years," Barkley's supporters say mournfully, "he will surely die of a broken heart." It seems exceedingly unlikely that tough old Barkley would do anything of the sort, but the line may appeal to the sentimentality of Kentuckians.

At any rate, Barkley himself plans to dispose of the matter of his age not by sentimental appeals, but by demonstrating that he is still "Iron Man Barkley" — still capable of telling more jokes, jerking more tears, shaking more hands, crowning more beauty queens, and making more speeches than anyone else.

So much is made here of "The Age Issue" simply because there are no genuine issues, between Barkley and Cooper. Cooper has even protected himself against Democratic flank attacks by flatly committing himself against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, who is political poison in this state.

Both Well-Liked

Moreover, Barkley's personal popularity is probably matched, or almost so, by Cooper's, and in his own peculiar way, Cooper is also a superb campaigner. Thus the real difference between the two men comes down to the simpler fact that Barkley is a Democrat and Cooper is a Republican.

This is the second reason why Barkley is so generally regarded as the winner here. The Democratic party label alone may be enough to elect him. The political pattern in Kentucky, observers here believe, has snapped back to normal, after having been twisted all out of shape in 1952, by Eisenhower's popularity, the Korean War, and many other factors.

Indeed, there are those who believe that Kentucky's political pattern has snapped back towards the Democrats much further than normal, largely because both farmers and industrial workers are discontented. If this is true, it has obvious national political significance.

Yankees Stop Cleveland, 4-1; Brooklyn Loses To Cubs

Berra Swats Homer, Lopat Evens Series

43,367 See New York Slice Tribe's Lead Down To 4½ Games

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) — Yogi Berra pumped new life into New York's American League pennant hopes today, pounding out a home run and two singles to pace the Yankees to a 4-1 "must" victory over Cleveland that shaved the league-leading Indians' margin to 4½ games.

The slugging catcher proved an ideal battery mate for pitcher Ed Lopat who turned in one of his best performances of the year in snapping Cleveland's five-game winning streak with a well-spaced nine-hitter.

Berra Starts Rally

It was Berra's single that started a two-run rally in the fourth inning after Cleveland had taken a 1-0 lead and it was his home run, No. 18, with Mickey Mantle on base in the sixth that iced the game for the Yankees.

Lopat, who now holds 40 lifetime victories over the Indians while losing to them only 12 times, was superb in the sixth and seventh innings when five Indians reached base but none scored.

The Tribe filled the bases with nobody out in the fifth and the crowd of 43,367 envisioned another of the Indians' famed come-back rallies with Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Vic Wertz—the heart of Cleveland's batting order—swinging their big bats.

The 36-year-old lefthander then calmly proceeded to strike out Doby, retire Rosen on an infield popup and dispose of Wertz on an infield grounder as the big crowd roared its approval.

Hit Successive Singles

Dave Philley and pinch hitter Hank Majeski slashed successive singles to open the sixth but again Lopat rose to the occasion, retiring the next three batters.

Mike Garcia, whose 16 victories this year do not include any over either the Yankees or the Chicago White Sox, began for Cleveland and permitted only six hits. But five of them came in the two scoring innings.

In contrast, only one of the nine hits off Lopat figured in Cleveland's scoring. That was in the third inning when Jim Hegan opened with a triple into the left field corner and crossed the plate on Garcia's towering 425 foot sacrifice fly.

It will be Bob Lemon (20-5) against Whitey Ford (15-7) tomorrow in the final game between the rivals at Yankee Stadium. Lemon will be gunning for his 12th straight. Cleveland has 22 games left to play to New York's 23.

Bullets' Leonard Is Joining Army

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — Bob Leonard, former Indiana basketball great and No. 2 draft choice of the Baltimore Bullets informed Owner-Coach Clair Bee today he is entering the Army.

It was the first break in a long string of National Basketball Association contract signings Bee has been negotiating the last couple of months.

Leonard was regarded as one of the sure cures for Baltimore's backcourt ills and was expected to provide much scoring punch. The 6-foot-3 Hoosier was the Bullets' top choice behind Furman's Frank Selvy, already signed to play here.

Stallions Defeat Mustangs, Cop Pony League Title, 4-1

Shelley Tossers Win Second Year In Row

Manager Bob Shelley's Stallions copped the Pony League championship for the second straight year last night at Penn Avenue field by turning back the Mustangs, 4-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Hank Page.

Three teams ended season tied for first place with 7-5 records in the Pony circuit. The Mustangs eliminated the Thoroughbreds, 10-2, on Tuesday to battle the Stallions for the title.

The victors iced the contest in the fourth inning by pushing across three runs on four hits. Bill Buzzard opened the frame with a two-bagger and scored on Tom Martin's single. Martin went to second on a wild pitch and came riding home on Jim Zufall's one-bagger. A single by Ronnie Bruce plated Zufall with the final tally.

Page struck out seven and walked only one batter in recording the win. He also led the team at the plate for the season, collecting 17 hits in 30 trips to the dish for a .567 average.

Zufall, Foster George and Terry Broadwater each collected two bingles to pace the Stallions' attack yesterday. Buzzard's double was the only extra-base blow.

Barley had two of the five Mustang hits off Page. The losers were blanked until the last inning when they shoved over their only run. The score:

MUSTANGS	000 000 1—1 5 2
STALLIONS	001 300 x—4 9 4

Twigg, Hale (4), Steckman (6) and Arnoholt, Yankelevitz (4). Page and Buzzard.

Pesky Chicago Scores 9 To 5 Over Dodgers

Hal Jeffcoat Wins Game, Bums' Errors Help Cubs Score

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The pesky seventh-place Chicago Cubs used three hits and three Brooklyn errors for a four-run sixth inning today, to clobber the shaky Dodgers 9-5 and maintain their pace as spoilers in the hot National League pennant race.

The Cubs, who defeated the Milwaukee Braves twice and league-leading New York Giants once on the current home stand, ran up a seven-game victory string with today's decision before 14,786 cheering Wrigley Field fans.

But actually the Dodgers beat themselves in the comical sixth inning. They entered the contest 3½ games off the pace of the Giants, who played at Cincinnati tonight.

After Chicago jammed across four runs off starter John Podres in the second, Brooklyn tied it 4-4 with four in the third that kayoed Warren Hacker and went ahead with one in the fifth on Pee Wee Reese's triple and Gil Hodges' sacrifice fly.

Then came the disastrous sixth. Ralph Kiner led off with a single, his third successive hit. After pinch-hitter Dee Fondy fouled out, Walker Cooper doubled to center to score Kiner.

Hal Jeffcoat, who relieved Hacker, was safe when his steaming grounder was bobbled by Reese. Bob Talbot followed with a single, scoring Cooper.

When Carl Furillo threw wide to third, Jeffcoat followed Cooper across the plate. Third baseman Jackie Robinson rifled the recovery past the plate and Talbot kept running to score also. Two of the four runs were earned.

Ted Atkinson Rides His 3,000th Winning Horse

NEW YORK, Sept 1 (AP)—Jockey Ted Atkinson today achieved a goal reached by only three other riders in racing history when he rode his 3,000th winner.

He scored with Devastation, 2-year-old filly owned by Greentree Stable, his contract employer, in a six furlong claiming race. It was his first mount of the day at Aqueduct track, and came in the third race.

The only other jockeys to ride 3,000 or more winners were Sir Gordon Richards, Johnny Longden and Eddie Arcaro.

Sir Gordon holds the record with 4,870, but he retired recently after an injury. Longden has more than 4,000, and Arcaro went over the 3,000 mark in 1952.

Terps Seeking Defense Tackles

Offense Is Good Coach Tatum Says

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—"The hardest to develop are good, big tackles," Coach Jim Tatum said today and that's one of his main jobs with Maryland's football team.

"Vicious defense at tackle is lacking," Tatum said in going over the squad at the opening of practice of the 1953 national collegiate champions.

The elected coach of the year in 1953 feels Maryland is as well off on the offense as it's ever been in his past seven seasons at Maryland.

But the absence of "superhuman" tackles, as he called them, which have been a trademark of Tatum teams has him worried. He ticked off such as Ray Krouse, now with the New York Giants, Dick Modzelewski, a Washington Redskin, and last year's All-America Stan Jones and Bob Morgan as examples.

"They were 230 to 250 pounds and could move," Tatum recalled fondly. "They anchor your defense."

Gavilan Ill With Mumps, May Defend Title In Oct.

Pair Of 6-Rounders Put On Television

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1 (AP)—Boxing fans across the nation got their customary Wednesday night fight on television but it was a quartet of unheralded boxers instead of the famed Kid Gavilan in a welterweight title defense against Johnny Saxton.

Gavilan came up with the mumps on the eve of his eighth title defense and was forced to take to his bed instead of the ring. The 15-rounder, scheduled tonight for the outdoor Connie Mack Stadium, was called off and postponed until sometime in October for the indoor Convention Hall.

The champion's illness developed so quickly that the International Boxing Club was caught short without an immediate substitution for its weekly TV show. It was announced at first that there would be no live actior for the fisticuff fanciers, then it was decided to present a pair of featherweights in a 10 rounder. Finally, it was decided to televise two six rounders, featherweight Ike Chesnut against Bobby Bell, and lightweights George Justine and Elwood Davis, both of Philadelphia.

Bell, a 25-year old from Youngstown, O., has won five straight fights since he came out of the Army. His record is 32-20-3. Chestnut, of New York, is a 22-year-old former Golden Gloves champion. He has won five of six bouts this year and has a 14-2-1 record.

After Gavilan complained of his illness last night, he was examined by three doctors at the order of Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. Wiener said he wanted to be sure there "were no angles."

All three physicians, including Gavilan's personal doctor, Samuel Swetnick, came up with the same finding—the champ was suffering from a virus infection, had a temperature of 101 degrees and an inflammation of the left parotid gland. Dr. Swetnick simplified that today, saying it was a case of old fashioned mumps.

Dempsey To Spar With Rocky Marciano

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, the former heavyweight king, and Rocky Marciano, the current heavyweight champion, who form a mutual admiration society, will cross gloves in the ring tomorrow.

The old Manassa Mauler will don trunks and put on the gloves for the first time in 15 years for a brief sparring session with Rocky at the champ's Grossinger, N. Y., training camp.

Yankees Stop Cleveland, 4-1; Brooklyn Loses To Cubs

43,367 See New York Slice Tribe's Lead Down To 4½ Games

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) — Yogi Berra pumped new life into New York's American League pennant hopes today, pounding out a home run and two singles to pace the Yankees to a 4-1 "must" victory over Cleveland that shaved the league-leading Indians' margin to 4½ games.

The slugging catcher proved an ideal battery mate for pitcher Ed Lopat who turned in one of his best performances of the year in snapping Cleveland's five-game winning streak with a well-spaced nine-hitter.

Berra Starts Rally

It was Berra's single that started a two-run rally in the fourth inning after Cleveland had taken a 1-0 lead and it was his home run, No. 18, with Mickey Mantle on base in the sixth that iced the game for the Yankees.

Lopat, who now holds 40 lifetime victories over the Indians while losing to them only 12 times, was superb in the sixth and seventh innings when five Indians reached base but none scored.

The Tribe filled the bases with nobody out in the fifth and the crowd of 43,367 envisioned another of the Indians' famed come-back rallies with Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Vic Wertz—the heart of Cleveland's batting order—swinging their big bats.

The 36-year-old lefthander then calmly proceeded to strike out Doby, retire Rosen on an infield popup and dispose of Wertz on an infield grounder as the big crowd roared its approval.

Hit Successive Singles

Dave Philley and pinch hitter Hank Majeski slashed successive singles to open the sixth but again Lopat rose to the occasion, retiring the next three batters.

Mike Garcia, whose 16 victories this year do not include any over either the Yankees or the Chicago White Sox, began for Cleveland and permitted only six hits. But five of them came in the two scoring innings.

In contrast, only one of the nine hits off Lopat figured in Cleveland's scoring. That was in the third inning when Jim Hegan opened with a triple into the left field corner and crossed the plate on Garcia's towering 425 foot sacrifice fly.

It will be Bob Lemon (20-5) against Whitey Ford (15-7) tomorrow in the final game between the rivals at Yankee Stadium. Lemon will be gunning for his 12th straight. Cleveland has 22 games left to play to New York's 23.

Bullets' Leonard Is Joining Army

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — Bob Leonard, former Indiana basketball great and No. 2 draft choice of the Baltimore Bullets informed Owner-Coach Clair Bee today he is entering the Army.

It was the first break in a long string of National Basketball Association contract signings Bee has been negotiating the last couple of months.

Leonard was regarded as one of the sure cures for Baltimore's backcourt ills and was expected to provide much scoring punch. The 6-foot-3 Hoosier was the Bullets' top choice behind Furman's Frank Selvy, already signed to play here.

Stallions Defeat Mustangs, Cop Pony League Title, 4-1

Shelley Tossers Win Second Year In Row

Manager Bob Shelley's Stallions copped the Pony League championship for the second straight year last night at Penn Avenue field by turning back the Mustangs, 4-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Hank Page.

Three teams ended season tied for first place with 7-5 records in the Pony circuit. The Mustangs eliminated the Thoroughbreds, 10-2, on Tuesday to battle the Stallions for the title.

The victors iced the contest in the fourth inning by pushing across three runs on four hits. Bill Buzzard opened the frame with a two-bagger and scored on Tom Martin's single. Martin went to second on a wild pitch and came riding home on Jim Zufall's one-bagger. A single by Ronnie Bruce plated Zufall with the final tally.

Page struck out seven and walked only one batter in recording the win. He also led the team at the plate for the season, collecting 17 hits in 30 trips to the dish for a .567 average.

Zufall, Foster George and Terry Broadwater each collected two bingles to pace the Stallions' attack yesterday. Buzzard's double was the only extra-base blow.

Barley had two of the five Mustang hits off Page. The losers were blanked until the last inning when they shoved over their only run. The score:

MUSTANGS	000 000 1—1 5 2
STALLIONS	001 300 x—4 9 4

Twigg, Hale (4), Steckman (6) and Aronholt, Yankelevitz (4). Page and Buzzard.

Hal Jeffcoat Wins Game, Bums' Errors Help Cubs Score

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The pesky seventh-place Chicago Cubs used three hits and three Brooklyn errors for a four-run sixth inning today, to clobber the shaky Dodgers 9-5 and maintain their pace as spoilers in the hot National League pennant race.

The Cubs, who defeated the Milwaukee Braves twice and league-leading New York Giants once on the current home stand, ran up a seven-game victory string with today's decision before 14,786 cheering Wrigley Field fans.

But actually the Dodgers beat themselves in the comical sixth inning. They entered the contest 3½ games off the pace of the Giants, who played at Cincinnati tonight.

After Chicago jammed across four runs off starter John Podres in the second, Brooklyn tied it 4-4 with four in the third that kayoed Warren Hacker and went ahead with one in the fifth on Pee Wee Reese's triple and Gil Hodges' sacrifice fly.

Then came the disastrous sixth. Raloh Kiner led off with a single, his third successive hit. After pinch-hitter Dee Fondy fouled out, Walker Cooper doubled to center to score Kiner.

Hal Jeffcoat, who relieved Hacker, was safe when his steaming grounder was bobbled by Reese. Bob Talbot followed with a single, scoring Cooper.

When Carl Furillo threw wide to third, Jeffcoat followed Cooper across the plate. Third baseman Jackie Robinson rifled the recovery past the plate and Talbot kept running to score also. Two of the four runs were earned.

Ted Atkinson Rides His 3,000th Winning Horse

NEW YORK, Sept 1 (AP)—Jockey Ted Atkinson today achieved a goal reached by only three other riders in racing history when he rode his 3,000th winner.

He scored with Devastation, 2-year-old filly owned by Greentree Stable, his contract employer, in a six furlong claiming race. It was his first mount of the day at Aqueduct track, and came in the third race.

The only other jockeys to ride 3,000 or more winners were Sir Gordon Richards, Johnny Longden and Eddie Arcaro.

Sir Gordon holds the record with 4,870, but he retired recently after an injury. Longden has more than 4,000, and Arcaro went over the 3,000 mark in 1952.

Terps Seeking Defense Tackles

Offense Is Good Coach Tatum Says

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—"The hardest to develop are good, big tackles," Coach Jim Tatum said today and that's one of his main jobs with Maryland's football team.

"Vicious defense at tackle is lacking," Tatum said in going over the squad at the opening of practice of the 1953 national collegiate champions.

The elected coach of the year in 1953 feels Maryland is as well off on the offense as it's ever been in his past seven seasons at Maryland.

But the absence of "superhuman" tackles, as he called them, which have been a trademark of Tatum teams has him worried. He ticked off such as Ray Krouse, now with the New York Giants, Dick Modzelewski, a Washington Redskin, and last year's All-America Stan Jones and Bob Morgan as examples.

"They were 230 to 250 pounds and could move," Tatum recalled fondly. "They anchor your defense."

Gavilan Ill With Mumps, May Defend Title In Oct.

Pair Of 6-Rounders Put On Television

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1 (AP)—Boxing fans across the nation got their customary Wednesday night fight on television but it was a quartet of unheralded boxers instead of the famed Kid Gavilan in a welterweight title defense against Johnny Saxton.

Gavilan came up with the mumps on the eve of his eighth title defense and was forced to take to his bed instead of the ring. The 15-rounder, scheduled tonight for the outdoor Connie Mack Stadium, was called off and postponed until sometime in October for the indoor Convention Hall.

The champion's illness developed so quickly that the International Boxing Club was caught short without an immediate substitution for its weekly TV show. It was announced at first that there would be no live actior for the fisticuff fanciers, then it was decided to present a pair of featherweights in a 10 rounder. Finally, it was decided to televise two six rounders, featherweight Ike Chesnut against Bobby Bell, and lightweights George Justine and Elwood Davis, both of Philadelphia.

Bell, a 25-year old from Youngstown, O., has won five straight fights since he came out of the Army. His record is 32-20-3. Chestnut, of New York, is a 22-year-old former Golden Gloves champion. He has won five of six bouts this year and has a 14-2-1 record.

After Gavilan complained of his illness last night, he was examined by three doctors at the order of Frank Wiener, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. Wiener said he wanted to be sure there "were no angles."

All three physicians, including Gavilan's personal doctor, Samuel Swetnick, came up with the same finding—the champ was suffering from a virus infection, had a temperature of 101 degrees and an inflammation of the left parotid gland. Dr. Swetnick simplified that today, saying it was a case of old fashioned mumps.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—Jack Dempsey, the former heavyweight king, and Rocky Marciano, the current heavyweight champion, who form a mutual admiration society, will cross gloves in the ring tomorrow.

The old Manassa Mauler will don trunks and put on the gloves for the first time in 15 years for a brief sparring session with Rocky at the champ's Grossinger, N. Y., training camp.

Moose And ODC Battle To Tie To Open Playoff

Rocking Chair Game Ends 6-6 In Ninth

The Loyal Order of Moose and Outdoor Club battled to a 6-6 tie in nine innings in the opening game of their best-of-five Rocking Chair Softball League playoff. The game at Stitcher Field was called after the second extra frame because of darkness.

Today's game which is scheduled to get underway at 6 p. m. thus will be considered the first game of the five-game series.

Although outhit by the league leaders the Moose team came from behind to tally three runs in the sixth inning, deadlocking the score at 6-6 and sending the contest into overtime. Neither team could muster the winning tally in the final three stanzas.

Vern Penner blasted a triple and a double to pace the Outdoor attack against Jim Roby. Ted Durbin chipped in two doubles and Sam Brady connected for a homerun in the fifth. Jack Luttrell also had a three-bagger in the 11-hit Outdoor assault.

George Geatz smashed out three singles and Lou Bell garnered two to top the Moose batters. John Harbaugh's homerun with a mate aboard accounted for two Moose runs in the second inning.

Trabert Wins, Clark Is Upset In Net Games

Tony Is Pressed To Beat Canadian

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP) — Defending titleholder Tony Trabert moved up to the fourth round of the National Tennis championships today but not before he was run ragged by a pint-sized Candian who swings a racquet with a two-fisted baseball grip.

Finally, after nearly two hours on the center court at the West Side Tennis Club, the solidly-built Cincinnati champion lived up to his No. 1 seeding by queeling Lorne Main of Toronto, 11-9, 8-6, 6-2.

While Tony was having his troubles, Jack Frost, 20-year-old giant killer from Monterey, Calif., was producing the first major upset in a marathon, four-hour battle on one of the obscure field courts.

Frost ousted the sixth-seeded Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., 9-7, 10-12, 5-7, 6-4, 10-8.

When the stocky Frost cracked Clark's service in the 17th game of the fifth set and then held his own with three sharp volleying placements to clinch the match, the two had wrangled over a total of 78 games. Both were hobbling from threatening leg cramps and were near exhaustion.

Trabert was the only player in the top half of the draw to gain the fourth round. All other favorites except Clark advanced in the lower half and most impressive of these was Australia's Davis Cup ace, Lew Hoad.

Hoad crushed Andres Hammersley of Chile, 6-0, 6-1, 8-6. The big Chilean was so jittery he served 18 double faults but Hoad looked unbeatable even without these gifts.

Also advancing were Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., Davis Cup teammates seeded second and third respectively in the domestic list; Tom Brown of San Francisco, No. 8, and a foreign contingent consisting of Sweden's Sven Davidson and Owen Williams of South Africa.

Football Won't Interfere With Terp Education

Elkins Cites Views On College Sports

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, ("Bull") Elkins in his own football days at Texas) took over as president of the University of Maryland today with the declaration:

"No university can stay on top as far as football is concerned and not do some things which perhaps impair its education program."

Maryland was national college football champion last year.

Dr. Elkins said his statement did not mean he would set out to deemphasize football. He said his policy would be "maintaining athletic disctinction without sacrificing academic distinction."

"If you mean can the university have a good athletic program in line with other state universities, that can be done without impairment," he said. The 45-year-old Texan won three letters quarterbacking for the Longhorns of Texas U (1928-32), besides winning five more letters in basketball and track. He coached a year of high school football at Cisco, Texas, before winning a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford.

Out of this background, he said today:

"A study on my part of football, the setup of the athletic council and the athletic scholarship arrangement, seems needed."

"Athletes must meet exactly the same admission requirements—the same requirements for remaining in school as any other student—without exception."

Dr. Elkins said overemphasis of football usually has its bad effects on a school's education program in connection with the granting of athletic scholarships.

He said these scholarships should go only to those who meet academic admission requirements and "maintain progress towards their degrees without interference from anyone for any purpose."

Football Won't Interfere With Terp Education

Elkins Cites Views On College Sports

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, ("Bull" Elkins in his own football days at Texas) took over as president of the University of Maryland today with the declaration:

"No university can stay on top as far as football is concerned and not do some things which perhaps impair its education program."

Maryland was national college football champion last year.

Dr. Elkins said his statement did not mean he would set out to deemphasize football. He said his policy would be "maintaining athletic disctinction without sacrificing academic distinction."

"If you mean can the university have a good athletic program in line with other state universities, that can be done without impairment," he said. The 45-year-old Texan won three letters quarterbacking for the Longhorns of Texas U (1928-32), besides winning five more letters in basketball and track. He coached a year of high school football at Cisco, Texas, before winning a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford.

Out of this background, he said today:

"A study on my part of football, the setup of the athletic council and the athletic scholarship arrangement, seems needed."

"Athletes must meet exactly the same admission requirements—the same requirements for remaining in school as any other student—without exception."

Dr. Elkins said overemphasis of football usually has its bad effects on a school's education program in connection with the granting of athletic scholarships.

He said these scholarships should go only to those who meet academic admission requirements and "maintain progress towards their degrees without interference from anyone for any purpose."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1—(INS)—Ross Hunter took time off from being host at his engagement party for Jane Powell and Pat Nerney to give me a piece of news.

"We've had so much success with 'Magnificent Obsession'," he said, "that I plan to team Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson again with Douglas Sirk directing. Universal-International bought a story called 'All That Heaven Allows' and it's the sort of drama that Jane does so well.

"We believe that Rock Hudson is going to be one of the hottest things on the screen," said Ross, who is also going to produce "Spring Song" (a musical) in January.

Tay believes this is because the festival wants to hand the award to a European-made picture this year.

I have just heard that Gloria Swanson had a Little Lord Fauntleroy costume flown over for the big masquerade party Earl Blackwell is giving in Venice. How young can you get!

Recently in my column I said that Barbara Stanwyck had perhaps made more pictures than any other star. I was wrong. "Queen Of Montana" is Barbara's 75th picture, but Loretta Young has made 80.

Barbara's contract with Paul Small had six months to go, but such is her sense of fairness that when she signed with the Jaffe agency she added a special clause in which she pays Mrs. Lillian Small, Paul's widow, a commission for 16 months.

Lillian has taken over her late husband's agency.

If Sally Eiler's plans go right, she'll meet her son, Harry Joe Brown Jr., in the Savoy Hotel in London today. Sally planed out Sunday night to be there to celebrate the young man's birthday.

He's traveling in Europe with six schoolmates from Stanford. He cabled his mother to telephone him in the Savoy grill on his birthday today, but instead Sally will be right there in person.

Harry Joe Sr., told me that he is putting Harry Joe Jr., in Yale this fall in the famous dramatic class because Junior wants to be a writer.

Back on the MGM lot is John Lee Mahin, who has been borrowed from Louis B. Mayer to adapt Paul Wellman's historical novel, "The Female."

Pan Berman is producing this story of a famous sixth century courtesan named Theodora. As I told you sometime ago, it was bought for Ava Gardner, who will play the role of Theodora who marries Justinian I and becomes an empress of the Roman Empire.

Ava will have plenty of time to make up her mind about what she is going to do because this won't be filmed until the spring of 1955.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Margaret O'Brien says not only has she never received any flowers from Glenn Hogan, Texas millionaire, but she never even met him or heard of him until she read in a column that he was sending her enough flowers to stock a florist shop.

Rumors are current that Janet Leigh is expecting a visit from the stork. I hope that she and Tony Curtis really will have the baby that they want so much.

Greta Peck's new boy friend is Stephen Arnsten, good looking business executive of Paramount Pictures. Greta looks slim and happy these days.

Gary Crosby has been signed by Decca Records to make a trip in the Middle West for them before school starts.

Finally got to Ciro's to hear Nat King Cole. Sitting right back of us were Johnny Grant and Miriam Stevenson (Miss Universe). They are second or third cousins. Johnny who's very good in "White Christmas," tells me he's going out on tour with the picture.

Ciro's was crowded, with Julie London Webb and Bobby Troup applauding the talented Nat King Cole.

Same place, Henry Ginsberg, just back from New York, introduced me to his charming dinner partner.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Ike Signs Bill To Pay Marylander's Claim

DENVER, Sept. 1 (AP) — A bill authorizing payment of $747 to Lyman Chalkley of Camp Springs, Md., was signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.

The bill stated the amount was in settlement of Chalkley's claim for payment for services. It said he was employed as a consultant in the State Department from Aug. 28, 1952 to Sept. 30, 1952 "without legal authority on the part of personnel officials of that department."

Remembering names isn't difficult if you make a real effort to develop this facility.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It doesn't take a practicing psychologist to know that people like to hear their own names, or that one of the surest ways to make an impression is to remember someone's name and greet him by pronouncing it correctly.

Once you recognize the importance of remembering names, you will have less trouble doing so. The trick is both a social and a business asset. It will give sparkle to your contacts and make people remember you for this particular facility. It will increase your popularity and win you new friends.

First, you must hear a name clearly. If the name of a woman being introduced sounds like Mrs. "Ffftt," ask her to repeat. If it is still foggy, ask her to spell it . . . she'll be pleased that you're taking such a personal interest. Now concentrate on the newly-learned name by repeating it silently.

Oral Repitition

Repeat the name orally to fix it in your mind. You can do this by using your new acquaintance's name in phrasing a statement or a question during your conversation. Instead of saying, "I quite agree with you!" make the phrase personal by saying, "I quite agree with you, Mrs. Phillips!" This will help you remember "Mrs. Phillips," too.

The same technique may be applied to group introductions. As each person's name is mentioned, repeat it to yourself in the few seconds before the next introduction. When the introductions have been completed, glance around the group and review all of the names. Keep glancing, keep reviewing. As you part, use each name: "Goodbye, Mr. Barnes" . . . "So nice to have met you, Mrs. Smith.

Some means of association will help you recall any name immediately, at a second meeting. The more exaggerated the association, the easier to remember. Make up a little verse, or think of a line like "Mrs. Ball is very tall." When you see Mrs. Ball again, her name will come to mind.

Your Popularity

Remember that not everybody is taking this little memory course. When you meet a woman who obviously doesn't recall your name, put her at ease by saying, "I'm Mrs. Baker . . . we met at the last church supper." That's as sure a way to be popular as its opposite—"You probably don't remember my name!"—is to be unpopular.

Tomorrow: Less tension, more personality.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career—every girl or woman now in ousiness who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time—uncertainty—needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed return envelope, for a copy of the booklet, YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

When the introductions have been completed, glance around the group and review all of the names. Keep glancing, keep reviewing. As you part, use each name: "Goodbye, Mr. Barnes" . . . "So nice to have met you, Mrs. Smith.

Some means of association will help you recall any name immediately, at a second meeting. The more exaggerated the association, the easier to remember. Make up a little verse, or think of a line like "Mrs. Ball is very tall." When you see Mrs. Ball again, her name will come to mind.

Your Popularity

Remember that not everybody is taking this little memory course. When you meet a woman who obviously doesn't recall your name, put her at ease by saying, "I'm Mrs. Baker . . . we met at the last church supper." That's as sure a way to be popular as its opposite—"You probably don't remember my name!"—is to be unpopular.

Tomorrow: Less tension, more personality.

SLAM CONTRACT EASIEST

IT MAY sound paradoxical to say that a slam contract is the easiest to make, that a game contract is harder, and that a less-than-game contract is the hardest. But that is the truth, if the contract is the correct one for the cards held. In the case of a sound slam bid, the declarer's concentration is usually on one main problem—how to prevent a single losing trick which he can't afford. With a game, he has two or three such problems. With a lower contract, he has a whole bevy of them, as the cards are closely portioned to the two sides, and any one of several little things can upset the apple-cart.

	♠ 10 9 6 ♥ 7 6 ♦ A Q 2 ♣ A J 9 5 2
♠ Q 8 4 ♥ K J 8 4 2 ♦ 8 ♣ Q 8 7 4	N W E S	♠ K 5 2 ♥ A 10 9 ♦ K J 9 6 5 3 ♣ 6
	♠ A J 7 3 ♥ Q 5 3 ♦ 10 7 4 ♣ K 10 3

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠

Not only fine general management, but three extremely good plays were required for the brilliant declarer to pull through that contract, a perilous one justified only by the fact that it was in a tournament and he was striving for scores which might beat the entire big field. It was in the American Masters' Pairs event, and this deal contributed to the victory for the astute practicing attorney who sat South, S. Garton Churchill, and his able partner, Cecil Head.

West gave him a chance for his first fine play on the opening trick, leading the 8 of East's diamonds. He saw that, if he used the A now, East would later win with the K and give his partner a ruff. But he played the 2. On winning with the J, East did not like to pitch back into the A-Q, so scored the heart A and led the 10. Neat play number two was his putting in the Q to force West into the lead with the K, so there could be no immediate diamond ruff. When West returned the heart J, to be ruffed by the spade 6, the spade 10 was led and sent through to the Q.

Now West returned the club 4, the J winning and the 10 being played to unblock. The spade J finesse won, the A felled the K, the club K was scored, the 9 finessed, the A and 5 won and so did the diamond A. He lost only two hearts, a spade and a diamond.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q J 6 4 3 ♥ K Q 4 ♦ Q 7 ♣ K 8 5
♠ 10 8 7 5 ♥ 9 6 ♦ K J 8 5 ♣ 7 6 2	N W E S	♠ K 9 2 ♥ J 3 2 ♦ A 10 9 4 2 ♣ Q 10
	♠ A ♥ A 10 8 7 5 ♦ 6 3 ♣ A J 9 4 3

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What bidding would you favor on this deal, if your pair was using the Blackwood slam convention?

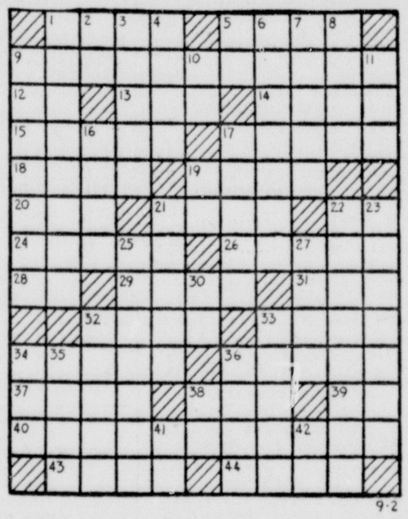
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

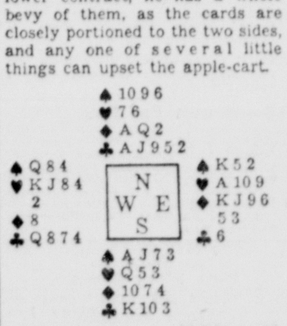
SLAM CONTRACT EASIEST

IT MAY sound paradoxical to say that a slam contract is the easiest to make, that a game contract is harder, and that a less-than-game contract is the hardest. But that is the truth, if the contract is the correct one for the cards held. In the case of a sound slam bid, the declarer's concentration is usually on one main problem—how to prevent a single losing trick which he can't afford. With a game, he has two or three such problems. With a lower contract, he has a whole bevy of them, as the cards are closely portioned to the two sides, and any one of several little things can upset the apple-cart.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	1 ♦
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠

Not only fine general management, but three extremely good plays were required for the brilliant declarer to pull through that contract, a perilous one justified only by the fact that it was in a tournament and he was striving for scores which might beat the entire big field. It was in the American Masters' Pairs event, and this deal contributed to the victory for the astute practicing attorney who sat South, S. Garton Churchill, and his able partner, Cecil Head.

West gave him a chance for his first fine play on the opening trick, leading the 8 of East's diamonds. He saw that, if he used the A now, East would later win with the K and give his partner a ruff. But he played the 2. On winning with the J, East did not like to pitch back into the A-Q, so scored the heart A and led the 10. Neat play number two was his putting in the Q to force West into the lead with the K, so there could be no immediate diamond ruff. When West returned the heart J, to be ruffed by the spade 6, the spade 10 was led and sent through to the Q.

Now West returned the club 4, the J winning, and the 10 being played to unblock. The spade J finesse won, the A felled the K, the club K was scored, the 9 finessed, the A and 5 won and so did the diamond A. He lost only two hearts, a spade and a diamond.

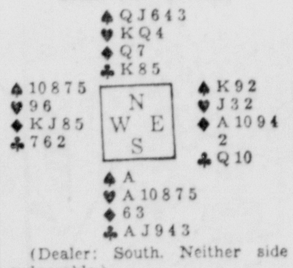
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What bidding would you favor on this deal, if your pair was using the Blackwood slam convention?

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their sympathy and kindness in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, William L. Dorsey. The lovely flowers and cars loaned for the funeral were greatly appreciated.

Wife, Mrs. William L. Dorsey and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife and our darling mother, Mrs. Cora E. Easton, who passed away 4 years ago, Sept. 2, 1950.

A token of love and remembrance,
Of a mother we shall never forget,
Her memory to us is a treasure,
Her loss is a life time regret.
Though days rush by and busy years
Speed quickly on their way.
The grief we hold within our hearts,
Lives on from day to day.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Children, Grandchildren, Daughter-in-laws and Son-in-laws.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their sympathy and kindness in our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, William L. Dorsey. The lovely flowers and cars loaned for the funeral were greatly appreciated.

Wife, Mrs. William L. Dorsey and Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear wife and our darling mother, Mrs. Cora E. Easton, who passed away 4 years ago, Sept. 2, 1950.

A token of love and remembrance,
Of a mother we shall never forget,
Her memory to us is a treasure,
Her loss is a life time regret.
Though days rush by and busy years
Speed quickly on their way,
The grief we hold within our hearts,
Lives on from day to day.
Sadly missed by her husband,
Children, Grandchildren, Daughter-in-laws and Son-in-laws.

National Jaycee Head Encourages Civic Service

Nearly 100 Attend Dinner Meeting Here

E. LaMar Buckner, 32, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker last night at a dinner meeting of the local Jaycee chapter at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Buckner cited as an example of what he thinks Jaycees should do, two lakes in his home state. He said Utah Lake is a vigorous lake, with much pretty scenery around it. Its water flows into the Jordan River and then into Salt Lake. On the other hand, Salt Lake keeps all its water, and is typified by death, decay, stench and corruption.

In using this as an illustration, Buckner said Jaycees should give service to the community.

He named four major factors which are helpful in accomplishing this goal—destination, inspiration, imagination and perspiration.

Recalls Achievments

Buckner recalled that many great achievments in American and world history have been accomplished by young men. He pointed out that George Washington, when he assumed his first command, in Cumberland, was 22. The average age of the members of the first Continental Congress was 34.

This was the first time Buckner has spoken in Cumberland. Lately he has been having a rather heavy schedule of speaking engagements. He spoke to the Baltimore Jaycees Monday, and yesterday was the guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the Prince George's County organization. He spoke yesterday at noon before the American Legion national convention in Washington.

Last year, when Buckner was national vice-president, he traveled 80,000 miles in this capacity, and said he has traveled nearly 250,000 miles so far this year in his duties as head of the national organization.

Approximately 100 persons were in attendance at last night's affair, including 10 past presidents of the local chapter—Fred Z. Hetzel, C. William Gilchrist, William Scott IV, J. Kenneth Morgan, David Kauffman, James B. Reinhart, J. L. Towler, Miles Thompson Jr., Robert Little Ebert and Raymond C. Dorn.

Melville Peters, Silver Spring, state Jaycee president, and Murray Davis, Annapolis, national director for the state of Maryland, were at last night's meeting.

Mayor Eves Attends

Nineteen special guests were there, including Mayor Roy W. Eves and other civic and community leaders.

Several Cumberland industries presented Buckner with articles manufactured in Cumberland. The Celanese gave him five yards each of five different fabrics for his wife, and the Kelly Springfield Tire Company presented him with an alarm clock which had a miniature rubber tire as a border.

The local Jaycee chapter honored Buckner with a beautiful 61-piece set of glassware made and cut in Cumberland.

Buckner "Arrested"

Buckner and his party were "arrested" yesterday afternoon on Martin's Mountain by Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police for having a siren on his car.

Actually, Buckner's "arrest" was a pre-arranged joke and Lt. O'Hara gave him a police escort to the Shrine Country Club. Buckner did not learn, however, that he was not under arrest until after he had arrived at the Club.

When Presidents Get Together

Glass Company Commended For Faith In Area

The Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce last night unanimously adopted a resolution expressing appreciation to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company for its faith in this area as demonstrated in its decision to locate its new $33,756,000 plate glass producing plant at North Branch.

In the resolution, the Jaycees also pledged full support to the company in any way they can lend assistance in the completion of the company's facilities or in becoming a part of the community.

The resolution was proposed by Albert D. Darby Jr., state director of the Cumberland Jaycees.

It reads as follows:

"Whereas, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company recently has announced plans to build a multi-million dollar plate glass manufacturing plant at North Branch, near Cumberland, and

"Whereas this plant will make a tremendous contribution to the economic growth and development of Cumberland and Allegany County through increased employment, payrolls and purchases, and

"Whereas, the announcement of the construction of this plant has been preceded by more than 19 months of extensive effort on the part of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, through its Industrial Promotion Committee, ably directed by Albert H. Hargreaves, and participated in by many persons, and

"Whereas, in the making of plans for the location and construction of this industry, major contributions toward solving some of the problems were made by U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, the County Commissioners of Allegany County and the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, and by many individuals,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce expresses to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company the appreciation of this organization and of all the community it represents, for the faith in this area which the company demonstrated in locating its plant here, and . . . .

"That the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce pledges its full support to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company in any way it can to lend assistance in the completion of its facilities or in becoming a part of our community, and . . . .

"That the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce highly commends and congratulates all those individuals who have shown their interest in their community by their untiring efforts to bring this new industry to us and to give us a more healthy, progressive economy."

Two Motorists Jailed After Three Crashes

City Police last night arrested and jailed two motorists after three cars were damaged in collisions. Two mishaps occurred on city streets and the other on a parking lot. Damage to all three vehicles was reported extensive.

Welby Sylvester Lewis, Box 732, Romney, W. Va., was reported to have struck two parked cars and fled from the scene.

However, he later drove back to the area of the mishaps and was apprehended. One of the cars was struck on Columbia Avenue and the other on the Acme parking lot.

Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey arrested Lewis who will be given a hearing this morning on charges of hit and run through careless driving and also a state motor vehicle violation.

Also slated for a hearing today is William Mitchell, U. S. Naval Home, Philadelphia, who was picked up yesterday by city police on a charge of hitting a parked auto belonging to Eugene P. Brown on Baltimore Avenue.

Mitchell was taken into custody about 8:50 p. m. After he struck the car, he reportedly left the scene. A local resident saw the mishap, followed Mitchell and later called police.

Investigating officers were John G. Powers and Warren Brehm.

Absentee Vote Plan Outlined

Attention is called to the election laws on absentee voting in Maryland, by Secretary of State John R. Reeves.

The law applies to men and women in the military service or allied activity. In detail, Secretary Reeves noted, members of the Armed Forces, Merchant Marine, the War Shipping Administration, the American Red Cross, the Society of Friends, the Women's Auxiliary, Service Pilots or the United Service Organizations, attached to and serving the Armed Forces outside the United States, may vote by absentee ballot, if qualified to vote in Maryland.

Friends or relatives of men and women eligible cannot request ballots. Only those eligible can make the request. But friends or relatives may procure, through the office of the Secretary of State at Annapolis, or from the local Board of Election Supervisors, forms to be used in applying for absentee ballots. These applications then can be mailed to the service man or woman as a reminder that they can and should vote in the November 2 general elections.

Reeves also observed that ballots should be readied for mailing by September 7 as they are now being printed. Application forms are available.

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club has made arrangements to sponsor the band here in a benefit performance, with proceeds to go toward the operation of Sunshine Camp.

Because of the popularity of this musical organization, each member of the club has been limited to 10 tickets. The club members may sell these to their friends on a first come, first serve basis.

James Reinhart and John Workmeister are co-chairmen of this benefit promotion for the club.

Ramey Gives Report On Findings Of Bus, Auto Inspections

During the recent pre-school inspection of buses and automobiles used to convey pupils to schools of Allegany County, 65 of the buses passed the inspection without any defects and six autos were noted as satisfactory.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation for the county schools, yesterday said six buses had exhaust system defects, three steering trouble, 12 signal light defects including bulbs or fuses burned out, four buses with fire extinguishers that needed to be refilled and two buses with defects in the windshield wiper mechanism.

Ramey pointed out that six buses are on order to replace present vehicles.

Following the inspection, the owners of buses with defects were notified and reminded to have them corrected within 10 days.

Rainfall, River Flow Exceed August Record For 25 Years

Mercury Average Is Below Normal

During the month of August, the observed daily flow of the Potomac River here was 681 cubic feet per second which is equivalent to 440 million gallons per day. This is 204 per cent of the August average for 25 years.

Despite the record flow in the river, the daily averages ranged from a low of 94 million gallons on August 1 to 1,450 million gallons on August 22.

A slight increase was noted in the storage in Savage River Dam. This caused an average decrease of one-half cubic foot per second or 300,000 gallons daily. These figures are considered a negligible factor in the flow in the North Branch.

Total rainfall recorded in Cumberland for August was 4.99 inches, according to the Weather Bureau. This is 1.51 inches above the August average. The average daily temperature was 70.9 degrees, or 1.6 degrees below normal.

This report is compiled regularly by the local office of the Geological Survey, which is a part of the United States Department of Interior. Robert M. Beall is the engineer in charge of the work in this area.

$118 In Goods Taken From Stolen Auto

When Lt. Raymond R. Johnson, of the City Police Department, checked on a complaint that a car was parked on a red line here yesterday he found the car was a stolen vehicle.

The 1948 automobile was reported stolen from Marvin L. Oates, Baltimore, who notified police of that city on August 26.

The auto was located on Bedford Street near Centre. The call was received here through State Police radio. The owner reported that approximately $118 worth of personal items had been taken.

Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, last night said fatigue suits, trousers, insurance papers and a clock had been recovered.

Yesterday afternoon in another case Van arrested Walter Lashbaugh of Mt. Savage in connection with the theft of a set of mechanics tools and an electric sweeper.

Through a tip received from a local pawnbroker, Lashbaugh was taken into custody by Van as the sweeper was being pawned. Lashbaugh will be taken to the State's Attorney's office today for questioning.

The bridge firm has set up its headquarters in Riverside Park in a portable trailer.

Telephone Bills To Go Up Again After Sept. 20

Boost Granted After Split PSC Decision

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Telephone bills will go up again in Maryland after Sept. 20.

How much? It's not certain and won't be until the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. figures out the new rate schedule under Public Service Commission order allowing the company an additional $2,316,000 a year.

A telephone company spokesman estimated that any increase would not amount to "more than two or three cents a day" for the ordinary subscriber.

The company serves 830,334 telephones in Maryland.

The company, in asking for its fifth post-war rate increase Nov. 27, 1953, sought a scale which would have produced an additional $6,864,000 annually. It said it needed the money to meet higher costs and finance plant expansion.

Allows One-Third

The commission allowed only one-third as much and then only by a 2-1 decision. Commissioner Wilmer Fell Davis filed a dissenting opinion saying he would have allowed no increase at all.

The company, given 10 days to accept or reject the commission ruling, accepted quickly, but reluctantly.

Vice President W. Griffin Morrel said "the denial of about 4½ million dollars in needed additional revenues will make our job . . . all the more difficult.

"Despite this, however, the rate relief granted will be helpful and we will continue our efforts to furnish telephone users with the best possible service."

The ruling by the majority, Chairman John H. Hessey and Commissioner Frank Harper, followed a pattern followed in similar cases since 1946. Then and in 1948, 1951 and 1952 the company asked for increases and got some relief, though not all it asked for.

Davis Files Opinion

The majority ruling set the company's property valuation for rate-making purposes at $155,157,989 and said it was entitled to a rate return of 6 per cent of that figure.

Davis in his dissent contended a return of 5.8 would have been enough. He said the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. had been putting pressure on its subsidiaries, the Maryland company included, to apply for rate increases so the A.T. & T. could maintain a $9 dividend on its stock.

"It now becomes a contest," Davis said, "between those who own this A.T. & T. stock and the Maryland rate payer as to whether the stockholder will receive this fixed dividend 'forever' . . . or whether those who use the telephones will be compelled to constantly pay more and more for their use."

Staff Speeds Work On City Tax Bills

Calculating and addressograph machines at City Hall are clicking merrily this week as the task of preparing 1954 tax bills progresses.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said some 14,000 statements will be mailed by September 24.

Included will be some 12,000 bills to individuals and another 2,000 statements for corporation and personal property taxes.

The City Collector's office places addresses and assessment data on the statements, and the Finance Office calculates and prints the amount of taxes to be paid.

Rubber Workers To Act On Wage Offer Saturday

Negotiators Slated To Meet Again Today

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union of America (CIO), has called a special meeting Saturday in the union hall to act on a wage proposal made by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

William G. Rice, president, said the meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. "to accept or reject the current wage proposal."

A regular membership meeting will follow, he added.

Union officials declined to comment on the terms of the wage offer prior to membership action.

Informed sources said the offer made by the Kelly firm follows the general pattern being set for the rubber industry in settlements with the Goodyear and Goodrich firms. These provided increases averaging 6½ cents, with the half cent used toward equalizing wage rates.

Company and union wage negotiators are scheduled to meet again today at the Kelly plant.

Negotiations, which had been recessed awaiting the setting of an industry wage pattern, resumed last Saturday.

Maryland Death Rate Decreases To Record Low

Lowered mortality for persons under 65 was the major factor in the record low of 8.8 deaths per 1,000 population established in Maryland during the second quarter of the year. The rate dropped appreciably for those under 65 whereas for the older population, mortality actually increased slightly, according to the State Department of Health.

Under age 65, the major causes showing declines since the second quarter of last year were influenza and pneumonia (19.6 percent decline), tuberculosis (12.6 percent), diseases of the heart (12.1 percent), and cerebral hemorrhage (11.6 percent). A few causes of death showed increases for those under 65, syphilis, suicide and homicide, diabetes, and accidents.

White tuberculosis mortality, which in the past has shown a continuing decline, rose to 11.0 deaths per 100,000 population for the second quarter. This represents an increase of 14 percent over the same period last year; for the colored, the rate decreased by 28 percent which is consistent with the trend.

From a standpoint of age, persons over 65 were adversely affected by a rise in the tuberculosis rate of 17 percent while the rate dropped 13 percent for those under 65. Reported cases of tuberculosis were somewhat lower than the second quarter of last year.

Kidney disease mortality has shown a relatively steady decline during the last 10 years and is now 10th in importance as a cause of death.

Kimble Proposes Aviation Aid

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — A committee of the Maryland Legislative Council will explore the possibilities of financing the State Aviation Commission through aviation fuel tax refunds.

The move for a study of this method of supporting the commission was made today by Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) after the council heard a report on the activities and obligations of the commission.

The report stemmed from a request last year by Richard A. Jamison, director of the aviation commission, for a study to see whether the agency should be abolished or given sufficient funds to carry out its responsibilities.

Now supported by general state funds, the commission has an appropriation of $17,352 this year. Budgets in the past have been cut sharply, and current appropriations permit only the employment of the director and a secretary.

The research report urged provision for an aviation enforcement and safety official and for another secretary.

Telephone Officials Plan Service For New Glass Plant

Telephone service will be available upon a few hours' notice when the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company begins the construction of its new plant at North Branch.

C. W. Haschert, Jr., manager, and Lester Deneen, service foreman for the C & P Telephone Company here, last week made a survey of the area.

Haschert reported service can be provided immediately for construction crews and that additional lines which will be needed for the big plant will be installed as soon as the company is ready for the service.

The Weather

Although it was extremely chilly in the early morning hours yesterday, it warmed up considerably during the afternoon and the high official temperature reached 77, an increase over the past several days. The low was 49 and at 6 p. m. yesterday the relative humidity was 57 per cent. The temperature began to drop again last evening at 7 p. m., when it dipped from 76 to 69 in a one-hour period. According to today's forecast, it will be mostly sunny and slightly warmer.

Big Yellow Bus Taking Place Of Little Red School House

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Progress, consolidation, and the big yellow school bus are combining to push the little red schoolhouse off the American landscape.

According to a survey by the National Geographic Society, there remain in this country about 45,000 one-room schools, and this figure is shrinking at the rate of about 10 per day.

Allegany County is far ahead of many areas in its bigger and better school program and is continuing its forward march. Each year more school buses are seen, and each year sees better schools, with better equipment appearing on the local scene.

This county, unlike some areas, but in step with or a pace ahead of many, has only one remaining one-room school, no two-room schools, only two three-room schools, a single four-room school and one five-room school.

Only One Remains

Lincoln School in Frostburg, a newly built one-room structure, was modernly designed and equipped to take care of the small Negro population there. So, as a typical one-room school considered in the national survey, it probably should not be counted.

Luke and Ellerslie have three-room schools, while Piney Plains boasts of four rooms and Corriganville five. These too, one day may join the march and may be replaced by big yellow school buses, although nothing is planned toward this end immediately.

The survey shows that across the nation school districts, with better roads, have been enlarged. Modern steel, stone and glass structures, each housing hundreds of pupils and 10 or more teachers, are replacing the elementary classrooms where four or more grades studied and recited side by side.

Feelings Are Mixed

Educators believe advantages of consolidation outweigh the good points of the "little red" schools. Progress in transportation and road building has made it possible to employ more and better-trained teachers. Larger buildings, properly located, offer better facilities at lower cost per pupil.

On the other hand, many citizens everywhere in the country dislike consolidation, largely for reasons bordering on community pride, old school ties or mere nostalgia.

In the school year 1917-18, a total of 196,000 one-room schools represented 71 per cent of all the country's school buildings. By 1940, the number had dropped to 114,000, and by 1952 only 51,800 single-unit buildings were left in America.

Most of the remaining one-room, single-teacher schools offer instruction only up to the sixth grade. The same is true for most two, three, four and five room structures. Only a few cities or large towns still have single-room buildings. Most of them are widely scattered in rural areas.

Was Stern Teacher

The old one-room schoolhouse, red, white or the weathered color of hand hewn logs, molded the early thinking of millions of children. Some of the same educators who now propound this more modern system, learned their three R's in single-room places, still dear to their hearts. They remember the little one-room schoolhouse as a stern teacher, but nostalgic memories of their youth recall the harsh clang of the recess bell, or the afternoon drone of reciting pupils. The prank that spelled a half hour after school, (with no school bus schedule to worry about), and the hickory switch have become symbols of happy, unspoiled days.

Sometimes school, for all its mental drudgery, meant respite from bodily labor. In a little backwoods shack at Knob Creek in his native Hardin County, Kentucky, Abraham Lincoln "learned to read and write, and cipher to the rule of three."

The late Henry Ford rescued Redstone School, in Sterling, Mass., from its ignominious functions as a garage and moved it to his "Longfellow's Wayside Inn" estate at South Sudbury, Mass. It now serves as a classroom for 16 Sudbury grammar-school children.

Redstone is remembered as the school where Mary Sawyer's little lamb "followed her to school one day", and inspired the poem, "Mary Had A Little Lamb".

Is Permanent Shrine

Not too long ago, 206-year-old Quasset school in Woodstock, Conn. was dedicated as a permanent shrine. On the walls of Quaset's single classroom are wooden pegs for hanging wraps. Lunch pails and a water bucket with tin dipper sit on a shelf. A high stool and a dunce cap and slippery elm switch have been preserved.

History shows that Dorchester, Mass. probably established the first "free" school in the New World in 1639, and appropriated 20 pounds from public funds for teacher hire. The Pilgrim children earlier had attended classes outdoors or in private homes, with volunteer teachers.

But since those days, three centuries ago, the school picture on the American landscape has been a permanent, ever-changing panorama. As the nation moved, the schools moved. As the nation progressed, the schools progressed.

The water bucket and tin dipper, the lunch pails, the little houses out back, the hickory stick and the dunce cap are gone. In the shadow of modern masonry, glass and steel, and along the roads traversed by the big yellow school buses, only the memory remains.

National Jaycee Head Encourages Civic Service

Nearly 100 Attend Dinner Meeting Here

E. LaMar Buckner, 32, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker last night at a dinner meeting of the local Jaycee chapter at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Buckner cited as an example of what he thinks Jaycees should do, two lakes in his home state. He said Utah Lake is a vigorous lake, with much pretty scenery around it. Its water flows into the Jordan River and then into Salt Lake. On the other hand, Salt Lake keeps all its water, and is typified by death, decay, stench and corruption.

In using this as an illustration, Buckner said Jaycees should give service to the community.

He named four major factors which are helpful in accomplishing this goal—destination, inspiration, imagination and perspiration.

Recalls Achievments

Buckner recalled that many great achievments in American and world history have been accomplished by young men. He pointed out that George Washington, when he assumed his first command, in Cumberland, was 22. The average age of the members of the first Continental Congress was 34.

This was the first time Buckner has spoken in Cumberland. Lately he has been having a rather heavy schedule of speaking engagements. He spoke to the Baltimore Jaycees Monday, and yesterday was the guest speaker at a breakfast meeting of the Prince George's County organization. He spoke yesterday at noon before the American Legion national convention in Washington.

Last year, when Buckner was national vice-president, he traveled 80,000 miles in this capacity, and said he has traveled nearly 250,000 miles so far this year in his duties as head of the national organization.

Approximately 100 persons were in attendance at last night's affair, including 10 past presidents of the local chapter—Fred Z. Hetzel, C. William Gilchrist, William Scott IV, J. Kenneth Morgan, David Kauffman, James B. Reinhart, J. L. Towler, Miles Thompson Jr., Robert Little Ebert and Raymond C. Dorn.

Melville Peters, Silver Spring, state Jaycee president, and Murray Davis, Annapolis, national director for the state of Maryland, were at last night's meeting.

Mayor Eves Attends

Nineteen special guests were there, including Mayor Roy W. Eves and other civic and community leaders.

Several Cumberland industries presented Buckner with articles manufactured in Cumberland. The Celanese gave him five yards each of five different fabrics for his wife, and the Kelly Springfield Tire Company presented him with an alarm clock which had a miniature rubber tire as a border.

The local Jaycee chapter honored Buckner with a beautiful 61-piece set of glassware made and cut in Cumberland.

Buckner "Arrested"

Buckner and his party were "arrested" yesterday afternoon on Martin's Mountain by Lt. William E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police for having a siren on his car.

Actually, Buckner's "arrest" was a pre-arranged joke and Lt. O'Hara gave him a police escort to the Shrine Country Club. Buckner did not learn, however, that he was not under arrest until after he had arrived at the Club.

"Whereas this plant will make a tremendous contribution to the economic growth and development of Cumberland and Allegany County through increased employment, payrolls and purchases, and

Rainfall, River Flow Exceed August Record For 25 Years

Mercury Average Is Below Normal

During the month of August, the observed daily flow of the Potomac River here was 681 cubic feet per second which is equivalent to 440 million gallons per day. This is 204 per cent of the August average for 25 years.

Despite the record flow in the river, the daily averages ranged from a low of 94 million gallons on August 1 to 1,450 million gallons on August 22.

A slight increase was noted in the storage in Savage River Dam. This caused an average decrease of one-half cubic foot per second or 300,000 gallons daily. These figures are considered a negligible factor in the flow in the North Branch.

Total rainfall recorded in Cumberland for August was 4.99 inches, according to the Weather Bureau. This is 1.51 inches above the August average. The average daily temperature was 70.9 degrees, or 1.6 degrees below normal.

This report is compiled regularly by the local office of the Geological Survey, which is a part of the United States Department of Interior. Robert M. Beall is the engineer in charge of the work in this area.

$118 In Goods Taken From Stolen Auto

When Lt. Raymond R. Johnson, of the City Police Department, checked on a complaint that a car was parked on a red line here yesterday he found the car was a stolen vehicle.

The auto was located on Bedford Street near Centre. The call was received here through State Police radio. The owner reported that approximately $118 worth of personal items had been taken.

Lt. James E. Van, of the City Police Detective Bureau, last night said fatigue suits, trousers, insurance papers and a clock had been recovered.

Yesterday afternoon in another case Van arrested Walter Lashbaugh of Mt. Savage in connection with the theft of a set of mechanics tools and an electric sweeper.

Through a tip received from a local pawnbroker, Lashbaugh was taken into custody by Van as the sweeper was being pawned. Lashbaugh will be taken to the State's Attorney's office today for questioning.

Telephone Bills To Go Up Again After Sept. 20

Boost Granted After Split PSC Decision

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Telephone bills will go up again in Maryland after Sept. 20.

How much? It's not certain and won't be until the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. figures out the new rate schedule under Public Service Commission order allowing the company an additional $2,316,000 a year.

A telephone company spokesman estimated that any increase would not amount to "more than two or three cents a day" for the ordinary subscriber.

The company serves 830,334 telephones in Maryland.

The company, in asking for its fifth post-war rate increase Nov. 27, 1953, sought a scale which would have produced an additional $6,864,000 annually. It said it needed the money to meet higher costs and finance plant expansion.

Allows One-Third

The commission allowed only one-third as much and then only by a 2-1 decision. Commissioner Wilmer Fell Davis filed a dissenting opinion saying he would have allowed no increase at all.

The company, given 10 days to accept or reject the commission ruling, accepted quickly, but reluctantly.

Vice President W. Griffin Morrel said "the denial of about 4½ million dollars in needed additional revenues will make our job . . . all the more difficult.

"Despite this, however, the rate relief granted will be helpful and we will continue our efforts to furnish telephone users with the best possible service."

The ruling by the majority, Chairman John H. Hessey and Commissioner Frank Harper, followed a pattern followed in similar cases since 1946. Then and in 1948, 1951 and 1952 the company asked for increases and got some relief, though not all it asked for.

Davis Files Opinion

The majority ruling set the company's property valuation for ratemaking purposes at $155,157,989 and said it was entitled to a rate return of 6 per cent of that figure.

Davis in his dissent contended a return of 5.8 would have been enough. He said the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. had been putting pressure on its subsidiaries, the Maryland company included, to apply for rate increases so the A.T. & T. could maintain a $9 dividend on its stock.

"It now becomes a contest," Davis said, "between those who own this A.T. & T. stock and the Maryland rate payer as to whether the stockholder will receive this fixed dividend 'forever' . . . or whether those who use the telephones will be compelled to constantly pay more and more for their use."

Staff Speeds Work On City Tax Bills

Calculating and addressograph machines at City Hall are clicking merrily this week as the task of preparing 1954 tax bills progresses.

Included will be some 12,000 bills to individuals and another 2,000 statements for corporation and personal property taxes.

The City Collector's office places addresses and assessment data on the statements, and the Finance Office calculates and prints the amount of taxes to be paid.

Rubber Workers To Act On Wage Offer Saturday

Negotiators Slated To Meet Again Today

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union of America (CIO), has called a special meeting Saturday in the union hall to act on a wage proposal made by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

William G. Rice, president, said the meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. "to accept or reject the current wage proposal."

A regular membership meeting will follow, he added.

Union officials declined to comment on the terms of the wage offer prior to membership action.

Informed sources said the offer made by the Kelly firm follows the general pattern being set for the rubber industry in settlements with the Goodyear and Goodrich firms. These provided increases averaging 6½ cents, with the half cent used toward equalizing wage rates.

Company and union wage negotiators are scheduled to meet again today at the Kelly plant.

Maryland Death Rate Decreases To Record Low

Lowered mortality for persons under 65 was the major factor in the record low of 8.8 deaths per 1,000 population established in Maryland during the second quarter of the year. The rate dropped appreciably for those under 65 whereas for the older population, mortality actually increased slightly, according to the State Department of Health.

Under age 65, the major causes showing declines since the second quarter of last year were influenza and pneumonia (19.6 percent decline), tuberculosis (12.6 percent), diseases of the heart (12.1 percent), and cerebral hemorrhage (11.6 percent). A few causes of death showed increases for those under 65, syphilis, suicide and homicide, diabetes, and accidents.

White tuberculosis mortality, which in the past has shown a continuing decline, rose to 11.0 deaths per 100,000 population for the second quarter. This represents an increase of 14 percent over the same period last year; for the colored, the rate decreased by 28 percent which is consistent with the trend.

From a standpoint of age, persons over 65 were adversely affected by a rise in the tuberculosis rate of 17 percent while the rate dropped 13 percent for those under 65. Reported cases of tuberculosis were somewhat lower than the second quarter of last year.

Kidney disease mortality has shown a relatively steady decline during the last 10 years and is now 10th in importance as a cause of death.

Kimble Proposes Aviation Aid

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — A committee of the Maryland Legislative Council will explore the possibilities of financing the State Aviation Commission through aviation fuel tax refunds.

The move for a study of this method of supporting the commission was made today by Sen. Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) after the council heard a report on the activities and obligations of the commission.

The report stemmed from a request last year by Richard A. Jamison, director of the aviation commission, for a study to see whether the agency should be abolished or given sufficient funds to carry out its responsibilities.

Now supported by general state funds, the commission has an appropriation of $17,352 this year. Budgets in the past have been cut sharply, and current appropriations permit only the employment of the director and a secretary.

The research report urged provision for an aviation enforcement and safety official and for another secretary.

Haschert reported service can be provided immediately for construction crews and that additional lines which will be needed for the big plant will be installed as soon as the company is ready for the service.

Big Yellow Bus Taking Place Of Little Red School House

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Progress, consolidation, and the big yellow school bus are combining to push the little red schoolhouse off the American landscape.

According to a survey by the National Geographic Society, there remain in this country about 45,000 one-room schools, and this figure is shrinking at the rate of about 10 per day.

Allegany County is far ahead of many areas in its bigger and better school program and is continuing its forward march. Each year more school buses are seen, and each year sees better schools, with better equipment appearing on the local scene.

This county, unlike some areas, but in step with or a pace ahead of many, has only one remaining one-room school, no two-room schools, only two three-room schools, a single four-room school and one five-room school.

Only One Remains

Lincoln School in Frostburg, a newly built one-room structure, was modernly designed and equipped to take care of the small Negro population there. So, as a typical one-room school considered in the national survey, it probably should not be counted.

Luke and Ellerslie have three-room schools, while Piney Plains boasts of four rooms and Corriganville five. These too, one day may join the march and may be replaced by big yellow school buses, although nothing is planned toward this end immediately.

The survey shows that across the nation school districts, with better roads, have been enlarged. Modern steel, stone and glass structures, each housing hundreds of pupils and 10 or more teachers, are replacing the elementary classrooms where four or more grades studied and recited side by side.

Feelings Are Mixed

Educators believe advantages of consolidation outweigh the good points of the "little red" schools. Progress in transportation and road building has made it possible to employ more and better-trained teachers. Larger buildings, properly located, offer better facilities at lower cost per pupil.

On the other hand, many citizens everywhere in the country dislike consolidation, largely for reasons bordering on community pride, old school ties or mere nostalgia.

In the school year 1917-18, a total of 196,000 one-room schools represented 71 per cent of all the country's school buildings. By 1940, the number had dropped to 114,000, and by 1952 only 51,800 single-unit buildings were left in America.

Most of the remaining one-room, single-teacher schools offer instruction only up to the sixth grade. The same is true for most two, three, four and five room structures. Only a few cities or large towns still have single-room buildings. Most of them are widely scattered in rural areas.

Was Stern Teacher

The old one-room schoolhouse, red, white or the weathered color of hand hewn logs, molded the early thinking of millions of children. Some of the same educators who now propound this more modern system, learned their three R's in single-room places, still dear to their hearts. They remember the little one-room schoolhouse as a stern teacher, but nostalgic memories of their youth recall the harsh clang of the recess bell, or the afternoon drone of reciting pupils. The prank that spelled a half hour after school, (with no school bus schedule to worry about), and the hickory switch have become symbols of happy, unspoiled days.

Sometimes school, for all its mental drudgery, meant respite from bodily labor. In a little backwoods shack at Knob Creek in his native Hardin County, Kentucky, Abraham Lincoln "learned to read and write, and cipher to the rule of three."

The late Henry Ford rescued Redstone School, in Sterling, Mass., from its ignominious functions as a garage and moved it to his "Longfellow's Wayside Inn" estate at South Sudbury, Mass. It now serves as a classroom for 16 Sudbury grammar-school children.

Redstone is remembered as the school where Mary Sawyer's little lamb "followed her to school one day", and inspired the poem, "Mary Had A Little Lamb".

Is Permanent Shrine

Not too long ago, 206-year-old Quasset school in Woodstock, Conn. was dedicated as a permanent shrine. On the walls of Quaset's single classroom are wooden pegs for hanging wraps. Lunch pails and a water bucket with tin dipper sit on a shelf. A high stool and a dunce cap and slippery elm switch have been preserved.

History shows that Dorchester, Mass. probably established the first "free" school in the New World in 1639, and appropriated 20 pounds from public funds for teacher hire. The Pilgrim children earlier had attended classes outdoors or in private homes, with volunteer teachers.

But since those days, three centuries ago, the school picture on the American landscape has been a permanent, ever-changing panorama. As the nation moved, the schools moved. As the nation progressed, the schools progressed.

The water bucket and tin dipper, the lunch pails, the little houses out back, the hickory stick and the dunce cap are gone. In the shadow of modern masonry, glass and steel, and along the roads traversed by the big yellow school buses, only the memory remains.
